

SOLONS MUST SOLVE FARMER AID PROBLEM

President Coolidge Warned of Consequences of Avoiding Problem

DRAW TENTATIVE BILL

Plan for Federal Farm Board With Loan Fund for Stabilization

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1927, by Post Pub. Co.

Washington — Some kind of farm legislation is inevitable at the next session of congress. While the northwestern agricultural conference in session at St. Paul warns President Coolidge of the political consequences of avoiding the issue any longer and while the callers at Rapid City tell the president of the importance of doing something for agriculture, work is proceeding on the tentative draft of a bill which it is hoped will eventually be accepted by some of the groups now alienated because of the veto of the McNary-Haugen bill.

The plan is that which was disclosed in these dispatches several weeks ago, namely, the creation of a federal farm board which would have a revolving fund to lend to commodity stabilization corporations. The idea is that 60 percent of the funds needed to buy into the market shall be furnished by the federal farm loan board, and 40 percent if necessary from the commodity stabilization corporations.

WILL AFFILIATE

The plan calls for affiliation with the cooperatives in the most direct way but is believed to provide machinery which will take care of the non-members. As to the merit of the plan, its details have not been sufficiently distributed to get national opinion or even to get a reaction from the farm leaders. But the conference at St. Paul, which asks for the principles of the McNary-Haugen bill, has been hearing speeches on the importance of economic equality of agriculture. Although an equalization fee is insisted upon, the Coolidge administration is preparing to argue that the plan it has in mind will be better than an equalization fee.

MUST SOLVE PROBLEM

The essential thing to report at this time is, that notwithstanding the apparent lack of attention, the subject is getting in the east, officials here and those who are in touch with the president at Rapid City are convinced that something will have to be done between now and December to get a compromise bill in shape.

In fact it may be said with definiteness that the administration will not be caught on the defensive next session so far as alternative legislation is concerned but will push its own bill. Some of the principal features of the Curtis-Crisp bill will be included as many of its sections won widespread farm support though on the vital subject of stabilization of the surplus it did not go far enough to suit the McNary-Haugen school.

The question of what purpose President Coolidge had in mind in selecting a South Dakota town for his summer offices may be debated by the politicians as having been a move on his part to win the west but there is beginning to be talk that the west has begun to win Mr. Coolidge for the signs point to a readiness on his part to accept a much more radical bill than any that has yet been presented to him by his own advisers.

ASSEMBLY ADOPTS BILL CREATING NEW GAME COMMISSION

Madison — (AP) — After one of the longest and most spirited debates of the session the assembly Wednesday passed the bill by Senator R. Bruce Johnson, creating a new conservation commission of six men, not-salaried, in place of the present form of one-man conservation supervision.

Most of the debate, in which the assemblymen frequently engaged in personal remarks directed at their fellow members, was upon a substitute amendment to the bill submitted by Assemblyman Beggs. The substitute would have made the proposed commission one of five men, salaried $4,000 a year each. One would have been an expert in matters pertaining to fish and fishing, one on the subject of forestry and one other of the five a business man.

LOWDEN GIVES HIS PLAN FOR FARM RELIEF

Suggests Federal Board to Enable Farmer to Hold Excess Products

Madison — (AP) — The same forces which opposed the "radical" interstate commerce law when it was first proposed, are those which now are fighting farm relief legislation, said Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, in an address Wednesday to the Wisconsin legislature.

Those same forces, Mr. Lowden said, now give the interstate commerce regulations a credit for the great prosperity of the railroads, and the same beneficent result has come from grouping the country's credit under the Federal Reserve act.

Now it is the farmer's turn, he declared, to be permitted to enjoy the benefits of stabilizing his market with the approval of the government. If all farm producers were given the power by congress to fix their selling price at or near the cost of production, the greatest of all obstacles to successful cooperative marketing enterprises would be removed.

WORKABLE FARM RELIEF

But, he suggested, the "equalization fee" to cover the costs of handling surpluses needs to be applied not only to the majority but universally, to make the farm relief program workable and this is the proposal which its opponents term "radical."

"The Federal Reserve act," said Mr. Lowden, "was radical in exactly the same sense that this proposed farm relief legislation is radical. It meant the revolution of the entire structure and processes of currency and credit."

One by one Mr. Lowden took up the arguments raised against the farm relief measures and answered them. The equalization fee, universally applied to all producers of a single commodity, is the only way Americans will accept for handling the expense of controlling surplus production, as the idea of meeting the costs out of the Federal treasury partakes too much of the nature of a "dole" to be acceptable to either the farmers or the consumers.

"It is urged," he said, "that if a program of stabilization were carried out, there would be greatly increased production, with a surplus so large as to become altogether unmanageable."

"There are, it seems to me, two vital defects in this line of reasoning."

"In the first place, the argument assumes that in agriculture as in industry."

Honolulu Flight Heroes Hope To Bridge Pacific

Oakland, Calif. — (AP) — A flight from America to the Orient, spanning the full sweep of the Pacific, is the latest ambition of Lieutenants Lester J. Matland and Albert Hegenberger. While the praise of thousands was still ringing over San Francisco bay Tuesday for their flight from California to Honolulu, Matland expressed the desire to bridge the greatest ocean by air even before he had set foot upon land and Hegenberger nodded his approval.

The dream has taken no substantial form. Tired but happy, Matland and Hegenberger returned Tuesday night to gain rest from a strenuous welcome as two homecoming heroes ever received here. A parade through Market-st to the civic center where they were tendered a huge reception by cheering thousands was followed by another parade—a military one, in Oakland.

Then the aviators, grinning and blushing, were rushed to the Oakland municipal airport and viewed the spot from where they had hopped off two weeks before on their memorable flight to Honolulu.

More honors were heaped upon the birdmen at the Oakland community dinner in the municipal auditorium. United States Senator Samuel Shortridge, the speaker of the evening, said he would vote "yes" upon any congressional plan suitably to reward the two flyers.

Wednesday the aviators were detained as guests of the army officers at a luncheon at the San Francisco Presidio. The welcoming ceremonies will conclude Thursday.

CHINA DEMANDS REGALTY OF JAPANESE SOLDIERS

Peking — (AP) — The Peking government after a verbal protest by the foreign office to the Japanese legation Monday, has sent a note to the Japanese legation in which it demands the immediate withdrawal of troops from Tsinanfu and Tsinjing in the province of Shantung.

JONES LEADS FIRST ROUND IN GOLF MEET

St. Andrews, Scotland — (AP) — The amateurs were showing the way to the professionals when half the field had reported in the first round of play for the open golf championship of Great Britain. Bobby Jones, Atlanta, Ga., defending champion, was well out in front with a score of 68 equalling the record for the historic St. Andrews course. Three strokes back, at 71, was Len Nettelfield, young Australian amateur.

Joe Kirkwood, Australian pro, transplanted to the United States several years ago, was the leading professional at this stage with a score of 72. Percy Alliss, English professional, had to with five British professionals tied at 74.

Jones, after compiling a record 32 on the first nine, when he was even three from the fifth, through the ninth, hitched up his belt and went seriously at the task of bettering par on the difficult second nine. He missed only two shots on the sensational round. The first nine he found a breeze and on the second and on the fifteenth his tee shot reached rough at the light near the railway line. A powerful recovery, however, sent the ball on the green and he got his four.

At the twelfth he was five under four. The most spectacular hole was on the long fifth, 550 yards of three putting trouble. He was on the edge of the immense green with two tremendous wooden club wallops, but nearly lost a chance with a crisp blow from his putter and it skimmed smoothly over the velvet surface of the green and fairly into the cup for an eagle three.

The round sent St. Andrews golf fans wild. Men, women and children of this town where golf is life itself gave vent to their pent up feelings as the master finished his task for the day.

PREDICT MORE BUSINESS IN NEXT 3 MONTHS

Reports of Midwest Shippers' Committees Show Good Outlook

Green Bay — (AP) — Some quickening in business activity is expected in the midwest territory in the coming three months was contrasted with the corresponding quarter last year, was indicated by the reports of the various commodity committees of the Midwest shippers advisory board at the thirteenth regular meeting of that organization here Wednesday.

At the meeting Wednesday each committee reported upon the probable business outlook for its particular line in the coming three months, these reports being made in order to furnish the midwest railroads with advance information as to the traffic which they will be called upon to handle, in order that the roads may make the necessary preparations to handle it without delay.

41 REPORTS GIVEN

The reports presented by the 41 commodity committees fell into three general classifications—those in which increased business as compared with the corresponding three months last year, was anticipated in the next quarter; those in which the level of business activity will show little or no change; those in which some recession of activity is anticipated.

Combining all of these reports, however, it appears that there will be some slight increase in midwest traffic during July, August and September, this year, when compared with the same months of last year.

MANY INCREASES

The brick and clay products committee anticipated an increase of approximately 10 percent in their shipments; while an increase of from 8 to 10 percent is expected by the cement committee. Cereal and grain products committee anticipated an increase of 5 percent in business; while the grain products committee anticipated a better by 10 percent than in this quarter in 1926. The hides and leather trade also expects an increase of about 20 percent while a 5 percent business improvement in the movement of lumber and an 8 percent increase in paper and pulp was predicted.

The sand, gravel and stone committee reported an expected increase of 15 percent over a year ago while the movement of silica is expected to show a 5 percent increase.

Business approximately equal to that done in the third quarter of 1926, was anticipated in the next three months by the acid and chemical industry; the agricultural implement industry; the corn products industry; fresh fruits and vegetables; glass containers; livestock; packing house products; petroleum; shells; soap, furniture and grain.

The movement of field seeds in the next three months will be lighter than the same period in 1926 by 20 percent while the iron and steel industry is approximately 10 percent below the 1926 business for this period.

SOME DECREASES

A 5 percent decrease is anticipated in the shipments of lumber manufactured products with the same percentage predicted for the movement of machinery. The present condition of the paper board box industry is reported as 15 percent below normal at this period last year. The salt business is a little below normal. Conditions on waste material trade are likewise reported as quiet at present with a slight decline anticipated for the next three months.

Sawtell, Cal. — (AP) — Investigation of the ninth of a series of fires in the Soldiers' home here, which Tuesday burned a part of a barracks, was started Wednesday by Col. John Hadley, governor of the institution, on the theory that it was of incendiary origin.

E. E. Enos, chief of the Los Angeles bureau of fire investigation, also will begin an inquiry by questioning every man in the company quarters in the barracks. Only one man was in the building at the time the fire was discovered. He escaped. The building, of frame construction, three stories high, stands a few yards from the ruins of the large mess hall burned last March with a loss estimated at $125,000. The appraised value of the barracks is $23,000.

Neenah Man Hurt When He Runs Into Stalled Train

John C. Funke, E. Doty-ave, an employee of the Valley Inn Hotel garage, suffered critical injuries about 9 o'clock Tuesday evening when his automobile ran into a freight train of the Northwestern branch line between Oshkosh and Hortonville, near Larson on highway 150, known as the Winchester road.

Several cars of the train had been derailed and the highway was blocked by cars still on the rails, according to Sheriff Otto Zuehlke, who was returning from Winneconne, accompanied by his brother E. J. Zuehlke, and Undersheriff Otto Wickert. The sheriff's party was hailed by members of the train crew, who declared that Funke had just crashed into the stalled train on the other side of the tracks.

Dashing through the heavy train the sheriff and his companions ran around the long freight and found Funke lying in a ditch about fifteen feet from the spot where his machine so badly demolished. Sheriff Zuehlke declared that he could not decide in the darkness whether it was a sedan or touring car.

Lifting the groaning man, the three carried him back to their small coupe, and turned back to Larson, where they found that the physician was confined to his bed by illness, and unable to care for their charge.

NO AGREEMENT YET AT NAVAL MEETING

Arrange Plenary Session to Show Countries Still on Friendly Terms

Geneva — (AP) — The delegates to the tripartite naval conference Wednesday decided to convene a plenary session at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Outspoken opposition by the Japanese to any plan embodying a 400,000-ton cruiser program and the insistence by American delegates that they might not sign an agreement if revision upward was to be the only result of the present pact, has caused serious thinking among the other two delegations to the three-power naval limitation conference. There were indications that, as a consequence of the Japanese stand, the British delegates were showing a disposition to lower their estimate for the total cruiser tonnage.

The Americans were not what might be termed unhappy over the self-assessment of Japan's right to be heard and seemed rather to welcome the drawing out of the negotiations. The Americans expect the result will be opportunity for public opinion in all three countries to crystallize in favor of what they call real limitations—the primary object of the present gathering.

Thursday's plenary session was arranged, it was learned in order that assurance can be given that the negotiations are continuing in the friendliest manner.

Hugh S. Gibson, head of the American delegation, probably will pay tribute to Kevin O'Higgins, Irish Free state minister, who was assassinated Sunday.

The atmosphere at Geneva Wednesday was most friendly. Although the meeting which was held did not result in any agreement on the cruiser problem.

LAFAYETTE CO WARS ON LIQUOR LAW VIOLATORS

Darlington — (AP) — LaFayette-co opened a war upon alleged liquor law violators Wednesday when 32 warrants were issued and more than a dozen arrests made.

The warrants were being served by constables and operators of establishments recently padlocked for one year by federal authorities. They were issued for men and women in Darlington, Gratiot, Benton, New Diggins, Blanchardville and Shullsburg.

Under the direction of District Attorney Paul B. Conley, the county cleanup covers a wider range than the recent federal raids in La Fayette-co since the present warrants are issued for all the tenants and bartenders of the padlocked places while the federal counts only included the owners.

Cecil Doring is charged with 11 counts. He owns establishments in Darlington and Gratiot.

The upper house defeated the bill by Senator Schuman to abolish the state department of markets by a vote of 15 to 13.

Senator Barker led the fight against the bill saying, "Give the farmers a chance by letting them alone. They don't need any more sympathy or legislation. Let them run their own business and the farmer, the most independent man in the world, will take care of him."

Entertainment Will Consist of Games and Contests, Committees Told

Three farm organizations of this district will hold a joint picnic at Kline park, Kaukauna, on Sunday, Aug. 14, and representatives of the organizations from the entire state will be invited to attend. It was decided Monday evening at a meeting in Neenah. Groups represented were the Farmers Grange, Equity Shippers association and the Wisconsin Cheese Producers Federation. Granges represented were Sunny Corners, Kaukauna, Harrison Star, South Greenville, Zion, Koro and Allenville. Kaukauna and Menasha were represented in the Shippers association.

Preparations will be made for several thousand farmers at the park, which was purchased by the city of Kaukauna last year, he said. It will be the first large picnic at the park and the city will spend several hundred dollars to prepare it for the affair. All concessions will be run by churches, societies and the city and none by private individuals. No gambling devices will be allowed on the grounds and the picnic will not be a political rally. In an attempt to make it entirely a social affair no public officer of any kind will be on the program. Games, entertainments and refreshments will feature the picnic. Prizes will be given in the games.

QUIT NIGHT SALE OF

STAMPS AT POSTOFFICE

Since the opening of the new postal sub-station No. 3, at Schmitz's downtown drug store, Acting Postmaster F. F. Wettengel expects to discontinue the sale of stamps from the information window at the post office after 6:30 in the evening. It still is possible to obtain stamps from the night clerk but Postmaster Wettengel intends to discontinue the sale as soon as citizens generally began to use the new sub-station.

"The post office closes promptly at 6:30," the postmaster points out. Although the government does not require us to do so we permitted the night clerk to sell stamps to accommodate late patrons. Now that the sub-station has been opened in the heart of the business district and is as accessible as the post office itself we will abandon the night service.

"Sub-stations are installed as a service to the public but unless they transact a certain amount of business the federal officials will see no need for them and they will be abolished," Postmaster Wettengel said. He urged the people to use the sub-stations whenever possible.

WORLD'S RICHEST UTILITY MAGNATE SHUNS PUBLICITY

"The Man Nobody Knows" Is Way Chicagoans Dub Samuel Insull

BY ROY J. GIBBONS

Chicago—Samuel Insull—A Man Nobody Knows.

That is the title, somewhat jocose, which Chicagoans have tacked on to their extremely wealthy public utilities magnate.

Insull detests personal publicity—so much so that, although he controls almost two billions dollars worth of public utilities, the general public had hardly heard of him until he sprang into front-page prominence a year ago by defying the Senate slush fund investigating committee.

But his little-known life story is worth telling.

He was born in a small hamlet near London 66 years ago. At 14 he was compelled by poverty to quit school and go to work. His first job —as an office boy—paid him $1.25 a week.

EXTREMELY WEALTHY
Now he is the richest public utilities baron in America. In the field of gas, electricity and traction, his name means what Ford's means in the auto world. So rich is he that he thought nothing of dumping $237,000 into the laps of Illinois politicians during the recent primary.

It was these contributions that brought him under the survey of the Senate committee. Only after he had been threatened with jail for contempt did Insull tell any details of his gifts, the bulk of which had gone to Frank
L. Smith, senatorial candidate.

These committee tuts made Insull's name familiar to people who had never heard of him before. Millions of these people contribute to Insull's wealth every time they take a street car ride, turn on the light or cook a meal; but Insull was and is an unknown quantity to them.

Insull's rise to riches and power dates from the winter of 1881.

BEGAN WITH EDISON

Thomas A. Edison's London representative had been instructed to look about for a good secretary for the electrical wizard. He thought young In-sull showed promise, and sent him over. Insull's career began the moment he boarded the liner for America.

Insull entered the electrical field at the right time. Electricity as a commercial factor was in its infancy. In-sull's association with Edison showed him that it held vast possibilities.
Able and industrious, he advanced until he was handling the entire sales end of Edison's business; then, in 1892, he came to Chicago to assume the presidency of the Commonwealth Edison
Co., then a struggling concern under a poor past, and a dubious future.

Insull got busy on it. The company so, capably, started selling gas and electricity at the same time and proved that the two commodities were not opposed to each other, as previously had been supposed.

bus companies have just passed into

of the telephone system, is an Insull

COUNCIL MOVES TO SPEED BUILDING OF
FILTRATION PLANTAdopt Resolution Authorizing Bond Issue and Acceptance of Plans

Menasha—Preliminary steps for the building of a filtration plant at once were taken at an adjourned meeting of the common council Tuesday evening. The report of the water and light committee was read and a resolution was adopted that the report be accepted and placed on file and that the plans and specifications of the new plant now on file in the municipal offices be adopted and that the city clerk be authorized to advertise for bids.

Another resolution was adopted authorizing a bond issue of $100,000 for the construction of the plant which will be paid for out of the earnings. A letter from the state board of health was read which called attention to details of the plans and specifications. The new plant will be located on Reimer property adjoining the utility plant and the property will be transferred to the city as soon as the papers are made out. A temporary delay has been occasioned in securing an abstract.

Alderman M. J. Small called attention to the deplorable condition of Grand View-ave, owing to the earth having settled after a new was put in. Steps will be taken at once to remedy the matter. Alderman G. A. Fabrenkrug reported that the new moving along nicely at the new municipal bathing beach on the shore of Lake Winnebago. A carpenter has been engaged to put in several lockers and the traction company has agreed to deliver a car of sinders Wednesday to be used as filling. A new interurban station will be opened at once opposite the beach.

NEED NEW ROOF
Alderman A. W. Borenz said he had been informed that the roof on the city hall was beyond repair and that a new roof was badly needed. The fire and city hall committee was instructed to see that the present roof is replaced with a new one.

Alderman Fabrenkrug announced that three taxpayers called on him this week to see what had been done relative to a new sewer on Water-st. Quite a discussion arose over the proposed improvement. City Engineer A. E. McMahon said nothing could be done until the city was ready to build a trunk line. The matter was referred to the second ward aldermen and to the street committee and city engineer.

Mayor Remmel called attention to the tax claim of the Bank of Menasha and said it ought to be settled. If the aldermen were willing he said he would call on the bank and see what arrangements can be made. He favored a settlement similar to that of the First National bank which was 50 per cent of the claim.

MARITAL WAR ENDED
BY DIVORCE DECREE

Menasha—A divorce was granted to the plaintiff in county court at Oshkosh Monday by Judge D. C. McDonald in the case of Anna Schultz vs. August Schultz of Menasha. Mrs. Schultz alleged her husband had treated her in a cruel and inhuman manner since their marriage Jan. 24, 1896. She testified that when she was ill he refused to obtain a physician for her and that she was forced to flee from their home last April.

The defendant denied the charges in an answer filed by attorneys, but no answering testimony was introduced at the trial Monday. The plaintiff alleged that their married life had been "one continual war," quarrels chiefly about her children by a former marriage and over money matters.

Judge McDonald granted the separation with the provision that both parties were to keep property they now hold. Mrs. Schultz to retain her life lease on the homestead property and her husband a mortgage he holds on the property. The plaintiff obtained no alimony. She was represented by Henry Fitzhugh and M. J. Schotz and the defendant by Bullard & Spengler.

JONES CALLS HIS 68
SCORE "CRAZY GOLF"First Time He Shot Under 70 in 12 National Tour
neys

BY A. B. HEELER

St. Andrews, Scotland—(CP)—A slight haziness in this story may be pardoned. I am still dizzy with the 68 compiled by Robert Tyre Jones, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., in his first round here in the British open championship. I never saw a round like it, nor hope to see another. I quote Mr. Jones, sitting up in bed in room, at the Grand hotel.

"Gee, I was rotten up to the green. It was the hardest decent round I ever shot. I have shot harder rounds, scoring worse, but I never scored so well in so hard a round."

Here's a bit of statistics. Bobby Jones has broken 70 for the first time in a national open competition. He has been in 12. This said to be the first 68 ever shot at St. Andrews in national open competition. It ties the record for the course in any competition, and it was shot from the back tees. Bobby had 29 putts, and six of them were from more than 100 feet

COAST WAS CLEAR
A woman engaged a new maid, who answered the door one afternoon. A man asked if her mistress was at home.

"Yes," replied the maid, "come right in."

"But," stammered the visitor, "perhaps she's engaged."

"Oh, she's engaged all right, but he's out of town for a week, so you needn't be afraid. Come right in!"—Tit-Bits.

QUITE RANK
A certain London theatre manager is punctilious about the retention of his war-service rank. A well-known actor called on him at the theatre and asked for "Mr. Dash."

The well-trained door-keeper replied "I will tell Colonel Dash; he is upstairs."

"Right," said the actor. "Tell him Corporal Blank would like to see him."—Tit-Bits.

away. He holed one of 120 feet for an eagle three on the 533 yard fifth hole. At times his driving was erratic, he missed some iron shots but he averaged in with a 68 in the hardest finish I have seen the boy make on any course.

"The craziest golf I ever played," says Bobby, but it brought him his only score under 70 in a dozen major medal play events.

THIS HAS HAPPENED
LINCOLN NUNNALLY, elderly American chemist, is summoned to the little jungle-bordered town of PORTO VERDE, in west central Brazil, by his young friends, VILAK, who is concerned for the safety of his beautiful cousin, ELSIE MARBERRY, owner of a coffee plantation and other property near Porto Verde.

Several mysterious deaths have occurred, including that of TONY BARBETTA, one of Elsie's friends, who the girl herself has received warnings to get out of the country.

Vilak, who poses at times as a barber and at others as ATTORNEY DAVIS, believes GAYLORD PRENTISS, a reticent and forbidding man, known to be an enemy of Elsie, may be involved some way in the deaths. Accordingly, he and Nunnally set out for Prentiss' home, which is guarded by barbed-wire fences and a vicious dog. Elsie insists on joining them. Prentiss sets the dog on them and Vilak saves his companion's lives by chloroforming it into unconsciousness.

The next day Vilak is hastily summoned to Elsie's fazenda, where she tells him her two-year-old nephew, an orphan, has been kidnapped. She suspects Prentiss.

NOW BEGIN THE STORY
CHAPTER XIV

They began a steep ascent up a slope where the sides of the road were covered with red volcanic rock. The old man leaned over to Vilak. "I was glad to hear you say it was Prentiss," he whispered. "Er yes, Prentiss," he whispered. "Er glad. After the things I've heard here . . . I was afraid it was something else . . . er . . . head hunters . . ."

He thought he had spoken softly, but Elsie, whose senses were acute to the breaking point, nevertheless heard. "It isn't the head hunters," she answered dreadingly. "It can't be. There's only one tribe in all this region, and the chief of it is my friend. Last year he swore blood brotherhood with me and I gave him a good horse for catching some of my cur that had run away. He wouldn't do this. He wouldn't."

They reached the top of a hill, from which they could look down and see the valley in which Porto Verde lay spread out before them, the yellow rising river, the myriad tiny lakes above it, and everywhere else the green, black, inescapable jungle. Directly in front of some flat rocks at the side of the road which afforded a natural resting place, the prints were confused for a moment, many and close together. "They may have dismounted here to smoke," Vilak said and leaped off his horse. "Always a good place to look for clues. Men are off their guard when they're resting."

He glanced about quickly. In a cleft of rock a glint of gold caught his eyes. He thrust in his long fingers and pulled out a small brass button of the embossed type seen in the United States only on the coat sleeves of small boys, but in many countries on peasant trousers and jackets. "That's odd," Vilak murmured. "That's a button of the velvet jacket of Detto Ciccone, the chap with the missing teeth. I know that design of the acorn. The jacket's a rag, but the few remaining buttons on it are Detto's pride. There aren't any others like them in the town." "If it is Detto I'll be happy. He'll have taken Tinky just to get some money from me and what's money if I can get Tinky back?"

They rode on again. The highway narrowed to pass between two low cliffs of black rock, evidently part of the same volcanic strata which showed wherever a stone lifted itself from the tangled vegetation all about.

"Looks as if they're heading to Furnas Caves," Vilak said as the trail left the main highway and took a smaller road to the right. They turned into it and after half an hour stopped at a crossroads before a hole in some high rocks, almost sealed by bushes and interlaced vines.

"Logical place for them to come," Vilak declared as he surveyed the gloomy entrance. "All the crooks and smugglers in the neighborhood use it at one time or another. But apparently they haven't." He looked at the prints in the road farther ahead. "Hello!" he exclaimed. "Something's happened here. Here are the prints of four more horses coming down that side road and now our two horses go on ahead. Much faster. At a good gallop. I should say. I can tell that by the changed distance between the prints, and the deeper impression of the forepart of the hoof. And the prints of these other horses seem to follow all along now."

The road dropped again and was bordered on both sides by dense swamp grass. Gray ant hills which the white termite ants, the scavengers of the jungle, had piled up until they were high as a man's head showed here and there against the green background like the fantastic dwellings of gnomes of some Eastern fairy tale. A swarm of tiny gnats swept down upon them, crawling into their eyes, their ears, their noses. The horses, harassed as much as their riders, kicked, stamped and whisked their tails frantically.

The old man coughed as one of the minute insects reached his throat. "Er . . . terrible little creatures . . . er . . . terrible," he murmured. "Er . . . exasperating. I hope we will soon be away from here . . . We are turning, aren't we? I thought I could tell by the sun."

Vilak slapped vigorously at a particularly vicious gnat which had settled upon his ear. "Yes, you're right. It's rather queer. The road we've been taking for the last few minutes takes us almost directly back to Prentiss' place and Porto Verde. We're making almost a complete circle. If I remember this road right, it ought to come out near the railroad tracks where the bridge crosses the river."

A rise to the top of a low hill gave them a respite from the winged attackers. Two crudely made acres, with two wreaths of flord artificial flowers at their base, marked the graves of two Porto Verdeans who had been killed by the forest Indians. Another hill, another descent and they had come to the bridge over the swelling river, only a mile from the entrance of Elsie's fazenda from which they had started. Here the number of travelers coming from the various crossroads had somewhat obscured the trail. Vilak jumped from his

"Looks as if there is a second trail of a man on foot, wearing heavy shoes, leading from here to the railroad camp."

He was still absorbed, studying the soil, when an Indian came forward whom the old man recognized as the foreman of the railroad gang. He was an Indian who once might have come of staid and staid stock, but which by promiscuous racial admixture had been degraded until almost all the original characteristics had vanished. His body was stunted, his lips thick and ugly, his chin blunted, his brilliant eyes shifting and uneasy. But the most prominent feature of his face was a great flat and pimply nose, so large that it seemed almost a deformity.

He granted a few words in a language which the chemist did not understand, though he had no difficulty in comprehending the signs which accompanied them as a request to come to the railroad camp. Vilak nodded acquiescence. They followed him swiftly.

As they stepped through the brush into the open where they had an unobstructed view of the camp, Elsie, who had been riding in a sort of daze, gave a cry of joy and darted forward. On a blanket which had been carefully stretched on the ground was sitting a child of perhaps two years of age. It was dressed in a somewhat muddled white frock which contrasted sharply with its soft olive skin and black hair; its tiny red mouth was only revealed at intervals behind the orange it was busily sucking. At the sight of Elsie it gurgled with joy and waved a pudgy hand.

She caught it up and, radiant, ecstatic, smothered it with kisses. She gazed at it rapturously. "I'll never let you out of my sight again," she murmured. "Never, never, never."

The child gurgled a moment longer, then, as if trying to show that he had manifested sufficient emotion, dignifiedly returned to the chewing of the orange.

IRISH QUESTION UP AGAIN

The assassination of Kevin O'Higgins, vice president of the Irish Free State, its strong man and probable successor to the presidency, renews world attention to the perpetual Irish question. Having elected to remain within the British empire Ireland appears to be satisfied with its decision. Elections since that decision have been uniformly in support of the government.

American sentiment has always been with Irish aspiration for freedom but when it became a question of setting up an autonomous government within the British empire and of continuing a seemingly hopeless fight for complete independence and separation, there was much to argue in favor of accepting freedom within the empire. Those who favored this course cannot be accused of disloyalty to Ireland. They were convinced that it was for their country's best interests and welfare. When it came to matching the economic benefits and physical protection on the one hand against the academic and speculative political gains on the other, they elected to take the former. The irreconcilables and die-hards have refused to accept this verdict. They continued to fight the Irish Free State with force openly and from ambush. They have resorted to assassination on numerous occasions, and the killing of O'Higgins, one of the great statesmen Ireland has developed, is the culmination of this guerrilla warfare.

The assassination is altogether deplorable not only because it loses to Ireland some of its best brains and leadership at a time when constructive statesmanship is invaluable but it widens the breach between the republicans and conservatives and puts off the day of understanding, peace and unity. If complete independence of Ireland is desirable it will never be gained in this way.

THE GOVERNOR IS IN HOLE

The Duncan beer bill has finally been disposed of and goes to the governor for approval or veto. This action of the legislature, as has been made much of in the press dispatches, places the governor in somewhat of a dilemma. When he was a candidate he received the support of both wets and dries, and up to this time there is no evidence that either side is dissatisfied with his administration or his attitude toward prohibition.

Although the beer bill is confessedly a dishonest piece of legislation it is nevertheless supported politically by the apparent fact that Wisconsin is preponderantly wet. It attempts to legalize the manufacture, sale and consumption of beer in Wisconsin, whereas it has no such power. It may get plenty of venturesome brewers and liberty lovers into trouble but it cannot make real beer lawful.

If the governor signs the bill he gives merited offense to the supporters of the eighteenth amendment, and if he vetoes it he gives sentimental offense to the wets. It is a hard decision to make for a governor who is a candidate for reelection. While embarrassing it seems to be the choice between a lesser evil and duty on the one hand and expediency on the other. Trying to please every body in Wisconsin is one of the things that can't be done.

MORE IDOLS FALL

This is the day of the shattering Modern immodesty and frankness having admitted that these things are at all, prying eyes have delved into old history, old court records, old diaries to prove that all times have always been the same.

The latest of the idols to fall is that of the Puritan maiden. From blue stockings and Priscillas were not the shy maidens they have been painted in New England song and story. They often got tight, they were arrested and put in stocks for wearing short skirts, they broke the Sabbath, and held petting parties, say these sleuths in history.

Verily, verily, if there is a saint left standing in her niche, she had best look to her foundations and see that all records of her past are destroyed, for in the modern passion to dig up dirt, even the remote past is not being allowed to keep its chastity.

THE CRUISER DIFFERENCE

A dispatch from Geneva says it is announced in authoritative British circles that if the United States will agree with Great Britain to limit the number of 10,000 ton cruisers to about 10 Great Britain is prepared to accept the American maximum total tonnage compromise proposals of 400,000 tons. The exact facts will undoubtedly be brought out in today's session of the conference, together with the possibilities of reaching an agreement. Here again, we have the naval disarmament move running true to form in such international gatherings.

Last week the second or third crisis developed and the pessimists were sure it would wreck the conference. There did not seem to be any way of reconciling the differences between the United States and Great Britain over total cruiser tonnage. Those on the inside, however, did not take the deadlock too seriously. There is always a way to adjust differences, where there is a sincere purpose to reach a definite end. It now seems that a solution of this major difficulty may be found and that a treaty satisfactory to the three powers may be evolved.

All depends upon the honesty of their motives in discussing naval disarmament. If they really want to reduce naval expenditures and naval armament a way will be found. A breakup of the conference is virtually impossible. None of the nations concerned can afford to have it terminate in the discord, animosities and recriminations that would undoubtedly follow disagreement. Only chaos would result. A compromise must be reached.

"NORMAL" FAMILIES

The popular myth that a "normal" family consists of two parents and three children has been taken as the basis for many discussions as to family budgets, salaries, house plans and other living problems. Yet we must now conclude that this mythical "normal" family does not live in the average American home. In Chicago at least, if we may accept as correct the findings of the American Home Economics association and the University of Chicago in a recent joint investigation in that city.

The study covers 23,373 families, some of which are childless, some having one or more children, and some of which are broken, that is, made up of one parent and one or more children. Of all these families, almost one fourth had no children living at home when the figures were obtained. Another fourth had only one child. Practically one fifth had two children and less than one third had three or more. As a consequence the so-called normal family of two parents and three children was found in only 11 per cent of the families studied.

Furthermore, as we study the situation more thoroughly it does not appear that it would be highly desirable that the average family consist of five. Of course, theoretically, that would provide a replacement of three units for every two who died naturally of old age, barring accidents all around. The effect of this condition, in theory at least, would be the increasing of the world's population by fifty per cent with each generation, which would be a catastrophe. Economically the world is better off with a smaller increase.

OLD MASTERS

There! There! burning bright,
In the forests of the night,
What immortal hand or eye
Could form that fearful symmetry?

In what distant deeps or skies
Burnt the fire of thine eyes?
On what strange dare he awoke?
What the hand dare seize the fire?

And what shoulder, and what art,
Could twist the sinews of thy heart?
And when thy heart began to beat,
What dread hand, and what dread feet?

What the hammer? What the chisel?
What the graving, and the plan?
In what far-distant place
Drest thy deadly terrors wane?

When did the thousand ungodly,
Daughters of the damned begin,
To quarrel with their guilty kin,
And their unhallowed limbs unjoin
But the sole-dreadful work began?

And their first fell fell fell fell
To the first deep, from which they start,
The hideous hordes of the damned,
The fiends of the damned, the damned,
The damned.

Health Talks

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writer's name is never printed. WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT HEALTH

In June we had a little test, a health questionnaire, and the number of answers readers submitted quite swamped us for a while. Evidently popular interest in the subject of health and hygiene is greater than we anticipated, or maybe the interest is rather in the fun of answering questions that challenge one's general knowledge.
Anyhow, now that we've cleaned up the June questionnaire, it occurred to some of the staff that readers might welcome a second test, and here it is. This one we will designate the July health questionnaire—not that we mean to inflict such a test on readers every month, but just to distinguish it from the June health questionnaire. If readers want any more of this sort of fun, we should be glad to hear from them, and if they have questions to suggest for another test we will be glad to receive such suggestions. In fairness all questions in such a test should be based upon subjects that have been presented in this department within recent weeks. In order that every present reader may have a fair chance to know the right answer.
So here is the July health questionnaire. Send in your answers either on a separate sheet or posted on the clipping. Each correct answer counts 10 points; 70 is a fair mark to make. Inclose a stamped envelope bearing your address, if you desire to receive the correct answers by mail.

LIBRARY ADVENTURES

By Arnold Mulder

ARTIFICIAL "UNHAPPY ENDINGS"

The time may conceivably come when it will be impossible for a writer to get his novel accepted by the publishers unless it has an unhappy ending, just as there was a time, not so very long ago, when a happy ending was absolutely necessary.
I have frequently protested, in these articles, against books that began as tragedies and then at page 450 changed to sweet love stories set in the best of all possible worlds. The real writers who have stamina and character have never done that. When they began a tragedy they carried it through. The silly statement that there is already so much sorrow in the world that it ought not to be cluttered in us in books has never stopped them from being honest artists. A book that was keyed to the motif of tragedy remained tragedy on the last page as on the first. The really great books, from "Huckleberry Finn" to "The Sound and the Fury" illustrate this.
But it is just as logical to protest against turning a book that is keyed to happiness or triumph into a useless tragedy on the last page, merely because the tragic ending came into vogue. Imagine Robinson Crusoe, after 20 years on his island finally being rescued by a ship. Then, in a puff at his wife who has become a religious fanatic, he goes into a blizzard to the town 40 miles and months later he is found sitting dead against a haystack.
There is no reason for it. It is an artistic crime. An artificial unhappy ending has no more merit than an artificial happy ending.

The Question Box

By Frederic J. Haskin

Q. From what source came the timber used in Old Ironsides? E. V. R.
A. The Century Biographical Encyclopedia says that the timber used in building the "Constitution" came from Cumberland Island, near the northern coast of Florida.

Q. What was Charles Lindbergh's grandfather's name before he changed it to Lindbergh? A. R.
A. It is reported that his name was Mansson. After coming to America he changed it to Lindbergh as a brother had previously done.

Q. Can water be compressed? C. M.
A. Water is practically incompressible. A pressure of 100 pounds to the square inch compresses it only .00032 of its original volume and on the removal of the pressure that volume is immediately restored.

Q. Does the Department of the Navy maintain flying schools such as those of the Army? R. F.

A. The United States Navy maintains air stations where men enlisted in Naval Aeronautics are detailed for instruction. These stations are located as follows: Anacostia, D. C.; Coco Solo, Canal Zone; Hampton Roads, Va.; Lakehurst, N. J.; Pearl Harbor, T. Hawaii; Pensacola, Florida; and San Diego, Calif.

Q. Is dry-cleaning with gasoline in the home dangerous even though no flame is present? B. G.

A. Two pieces of fabric rubbed together may produce their own spark of fire known as "static" or frictional electricity. Ignorance of this fact has caused many tragic deaths among women who thought they had used every precaution to prevent fire when cleaning their clothes. A spark as tiny as that, made by rubbing a cat's back with "set off" the vapor from gasoline fired as a cleaner.

Q. Is "any" correctly used in the sentence "It has had the longest run of any movie"? A. W. C.

A. Dr. Visately says that the word should not be used in such a construction. "Since 'any' individualizes or separates, signifying one or some out of a certain quantity or number and thus differentiating from the whole or entire quantity or number, the word should not be used interchangeably with 'all'."

Q. Are there records of all the soldiers who fought in the Revolutionary War? M. M. J.

A. There are no complete records of all soldiers who served in the American Revolution. However, the Adjutant General's Office, War Department, Washington, D. C. has the most complete records which exist.

Q. Is it against the rule to put up a wooden mail box? R. S.

A. The Post Office Department says that the requirements are such that the approved mail boxes used on rural routes are made of metal.

Q. What is the angular diameter of the moon as seen from the earth? F. McC.

A. It averages a little over half a degree.

Q. Recipes of the Pennsylvania Dutch refer to "speck"—for instance "cabbage with speck." What does this mean? G. H. B.

A. Among the German and Dutch descendants in Pennsylvania, the name speck is the German word for bacon. This term is especially used in

New York — In those glittering attelers of fashion that dot Fifth Avenue and grow ultra-exclusive as 57th Street is reached, the world's, most carefully selected models each day preen themselves like peacocks in the interest of trade.

Critically conning them from beautifully upholstered lounges, hefty jeweled matrons judge the latest creation and, mayhap, even dream that a gown might look as well on them. Snappy youngsters come with crying "cladids!" to be outfitted in the fashion becoming a young lady-about-town.

For all such and sundry the models put on their littlest tone. They all acquire that languid, floating walk, the very affection of which seems to the prospective buyers the acme of how to display clothes. Thus same walk is oftentimes used by the more exquisite show girls of the classy Broadway musical performances. It takes just as much time and patience to acquire as a new dance step and there are many unable to achieve it.

Out of all this artificial glitter are built the legends of the beautiful models. Seen in such raiment as they could never afford to possess, they are visioned as the most seductive creatures. Buyers returning to mid-west towns add to the myths some whispered tale, accompanied by sly winks.

But taken out of the atteler, the average model is little more than a shapely, attractive, wordworthy young woman trying to live on a salary that averages $30 to $60 a week.

One of the most popular and beautiful models in a Fifty-Seventh Street shop — so exclusive that to enter it, you must either have a card or "be known" — is married to a struggling young radio engineer. I have known this couple for some years. Dropping in to visit them I generally find her sharing the little shop he has built in the attic, sitting on a chair fashioned out of a couple of boxes and darned stockings. On other occasions she has been washing dishes and is gowned in aingham house dress.

The story goes that a young model, whose photograph appears in magazines in the most gorgeous of raiment, had to turn down an invitation to a dressy dance because "she had nothing to wear." One of life's little jokes.

Recently an "old-timer" told me that the standard fee for modeling in New York is $5 an hour for actual display of gowns, posing or sitting for photographers. During the very busy season the "stars" sometimes make as much as $50 a day — but this rush time does not last long. A very few "stars" are paid up to $125 a week and have signed contracts.

the titles of such dishes as "cabbage with speck" and "speck and apples."

Q. Is there any difference in appearance between an American cut diamond and a European cut diamond of the same size? S. C. G.

A. A local jeweler says that the cut of diamonds is standardized, and there should be no difference in appearance between an American cut and European cut diamond of the same type and size. Regulations for a good diamond cut are one-third above the girdle (edge of stone) and two-thirds below.

Q. What are the diameters of the driving wheels on the following locomotives: Pennsylvania, Pacific, type; Reading; New York Central; Baltimore and Ohio? L. J. D.

A. Pennsylvania Railroad, Pacific type, K-4, 80 inches; Reading Railroad, 80 inches; New York Central, 72 inches; Baltimore and Ohio, 80 inches.

Q. When was tar pitch first used? J. D. G.

A. We can not say definitely when tar pitch was first used. A reference to it appears in the Epinal Glossary as early as A. D. 700. In 1744 Berkeley says that liquid pitch or tar was obtained by setting fire to billets of old felled pines or fir.

Q. May tea dust be used in making tea? M. L.

A. The Bureau of Chemistry says that under the tea law, tea dust or findings, if up to the government standard in purity and quality, is admitted to be used for human consumption. Very often it is found that tea dust taken from high grade teas makes an excellent beverage.

Two Floors of Good Things to Wear

NOVEL TOURIST CLUB IS RUN BY GUESTS FROM OTHER CITIES

BY DON E. MOWRY
Secretary, the American Community Advertising Association
Tourist camps are now familiar things on the American highway landscape, but tourist clubs, maintained by the tourists themselves, are new.
Corpus Christi, Tex., has founded such a club, and it is working remarkably well. Occupying the entire second floor of a new five-story building in the heart of the business district, this newly created tourist club is believed to contain every convenience that visitors to the city might wish.
There is a large reception room containing a piano, a victrola, many comfortable rocking chairs, writing room amply supplied with stationery, a reading room with current magazines, a bridge room, a checker and domino room and a smoking room.

In operating the tourist club the Chamber of Commerce will try something new by placing the management of the club in the hands of a house committee composed of tourists and selected by the tourists themselves.
The chamber is now adding new features as a result of suggestions made by the tourist management committee. They plan to make this one of the most comfortable and modern tourist clubs in the entire south.

MEN ARE BETTER SPORTS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

THERE was a pungent smell of good strong coffee, griddles blistering hot on which wheat cakes were browning, bacon, and freshly opened melons.

Along the counter, their feet padded comfortably on the mats, sat a row of men—men looking strong, American workmen of various occupations. It was about half past six on a cool spring morning.

At the table beside us sat four women. It seemed that no place else was open and they were still resenting the fact that they had had to resort to a place with checked tablecloths and shakers for their breakfast.

They chatted like four maids, the women did. One hadn't slept, another hadn't received a telegram she had been looking for, another—forget me what troubled the other two, but all four had grievances, all four were peevish, and all four were talking at once.

The men at the counter ate seriously and soberly, but quietly. Now and then a couple of them would stop eating long enough to banter each other good naturedly. There was no complaining or trouble-shooting in the crowd.

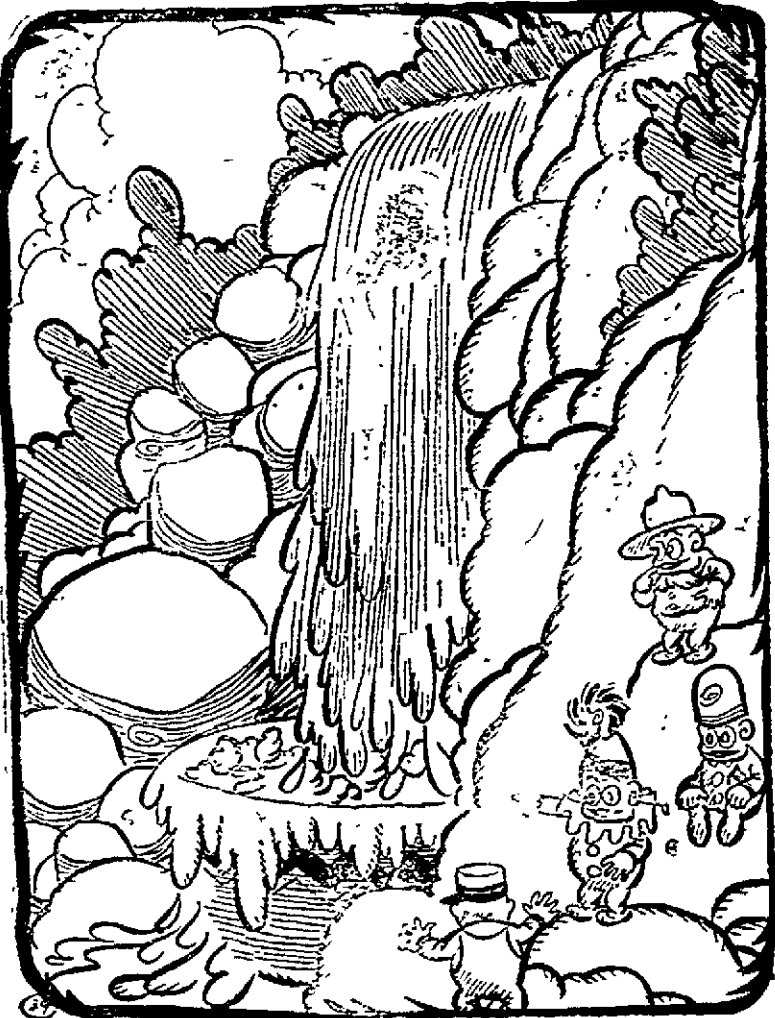

I found out later about a few of these men, as we rolled along the smooth highway in the fresh dewy morning. One of the men with us was an official at the mill at which most of the men worked. He knew them all by name.

One had lost his wife the week before, and was left with four little children. Another man's son had had an arm torn off a few days before. One was slowly going blind, and the end of his usefulness was only a few months ahead. There were other tragedies equally hopeless among them.

Yet all these men were saying not a word about their troubles to each other. Either they don't talk about their real troubles, or men are better sports. Which is it?

THE TINYMITES

Tin fun. The kernels cannot hurt run! The popcorn storm is all HE little Princess cried. "Don't you. They are much too soft and small. It's hide beneath that spreading tree. It's safe enough out here upon the ground, I'll stop the popcorn fall."

The Times watched her for a spell and then she heard we clowny yell. "I think that we'll stay where we are until the shower is through. Excuse us if we make a fuss, but you are bigger, far, than us. We fear the corn might hurt us though it doesn't bother you."

The Princess answered, "Oh, all right. Just wait. I'll try with all my might to make the storm of popcorn stop. You're funny little men. And then she shouted, rather loudly, "Oh popcorn—stop! We've had enough!" And very soon the storm was over, and it was clear again.

Out rushed the Tintins from the tree, exclaiming, in one voice, "Oh good!

Just watch us eat our fullest fill of popcorn from the ground." "There's plenty here," the Princess said, "for all of you. Go right ahead. The Tintins were surprised to see how much good corn was found.

When they had eaten quite a lot, more than they should, as like as not, the Princess shouted, "Follow me, and do not be afraid. I'll take you now to Syrup Falls. I wish you all had overalls, for you could help the man who knows how popcorn crisp is made."

It wasn't long till they were there. The scene they saw was truly rare. A wall of rocks towered over head. It was a wondrous place. And, in between the rocks of stone, they heard a rushing liquid groan. A brownish sea of syrup foamed and dropped down into space.

INFIRM CARS TO APPEAR IN MOVIE "FIRST AUTO" FOR LOCAL COLOR

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Eighteen decrepit automobiles have just been collected to be used in "The First Auto," a movie of early horseless carriage days.

Wrath of the past rise out of the smoky atmosphere, rear themselves up in the high, arching and sets, ready to

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS—

Many an old maid once was a girl who couldn't stay awake while she talked about herself.

ing a time when he who had an automobile was a Cereus, and he who rode in one was a death-defier.

The old automobiles have been collected from all parts of the country, from junk heaps in large cities, and out-of-the-way barns in the country; from museums and garages; from people who kept them out of sentiment and from those who kept them because they couldn't get rid of them.

One is a Tourist, another is a Soldier, there are a couple of infant high Childeans. None is less than 20 years of age, and many have not moved for 15 years. With patience and knowledge, however, mechanics have rejuvenated the decrepit vehicles, so that they will be seen in "The First Auto" movie by means of their original power.

Some of them are in the city, some are in the country, and a few in the middle. The entrance to the vehicle is by a small door, and the driver sits in a high seat, and the passengers sit in a row of seats behind him. The car is very small, and the driver has to be very careful when he is driving.

But, in the end, the car is a success. It is a very good car, and it is very safe. It is a very good car, and it is very safe. It is a very good car, and it is very safe.

Most Actors And Actresses Go Through Starvation Period Before They Finally Land Job In Filmdom

BY DAN THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — With the "strike" of a number of the first magnitude movie stars still in the air, there has been much talk to the effect that these stars could be replaced instantly with any number of "just as good" heroes and heroines who are supposed to be hanging around waiting for a chance.

Much is heard of the actors and actresses of celluloid who become stars overnight, but for some reason all such stories forget to mention that the "overnight stars" usually spend from two to six years as unknown waiting for a big chance.

As a matter of fact, very few persons attain immediate success in the film industry. Most of them go through the starvation period, during which work is scarce and they actually go for days at a time without food. Then there is the long apprenticeship to be served before the player is ready for the really big roles.

The stars who actually have come to fame almost instantly are few. Dolores Del Rio, Sue Carol, Charles Farrell, Betty Bronson, Gilbert Rowland, Fay Wray and James Murray just about complete the list.

LESS than six months after Dolores Del Rio was brought to make-believe Hollywood from Mexico City by Edwin Carewe she was named as a Wampas Baby Star. Then followed in rapid succession, imports in "What Price Glory," "Resurrection," and "Carmen." Dolores is by far the best bet of any of the younger stars.

Sue Carol came out here from Chicago just a few months ago and she already is sitting on top of the world. Sue had been in Hollywood less than two weeks when she attracted the attention of a Fox executive. An important role on the Fox lot followed. Then Douglas MacLean signed her as his leading lady. And now word has just been spread around that Sue is to play opposite Harold Lloyd in his next production.

CHARLEY FARRELL came to Hollywood with a determination to "crash" the movies. He begged a Lasky official to put him under contract for a small salary and was refused. Then James Cruze discovered him and gave him a leading role in "Old Ironsides." Charley's work was so good in that production that he was given another part in "The Rough Riders." Then came a still bigger film, "The Heaven," with Farrell and Janet Gaynor co-starred.

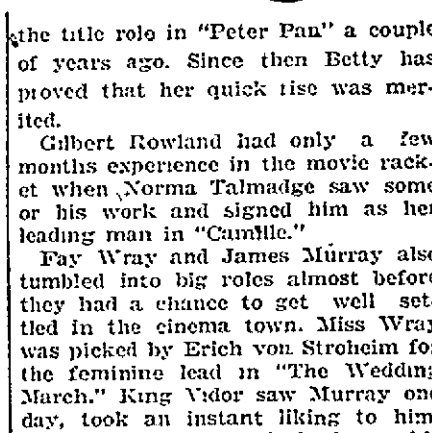

Some might wonder why Janet Gaynor was not mentioned as one of the "overnight successes." Janet really blossomed forth in "The Heaven," but she has been working before the cameras for more than two years. She might be classed with Colleen Moore, Clara Bow and a number of others who sprang up suddenly after years of waiting.

EVERYONE in the movie capital was more than surprised when Betty Bronson, a practically unknown newcomer, was chosen to play the title role in "Peter Pan" a couple of years ago. Since then Betty has proved that her quick rise was merited.

Gilbert Rowland had only a few months experience in the movie racket when Norma Talmadge saw some of his work and signed him as her leading man in "Candide."

Fay Wray and James Murray also tumbled into big roles almost before they had a chance to get well settled in the cinema town. Miss Wray was picked by Erich von Stroheim for the feminine lead in "The Wedding March." King Vidor saw Murray one day, took an instant liking to him, and gave him the male lead in his current picture, "The Mob."

An interesting little game now will be to see if these stars who sprang to sudden fame will be able to retain their places in the cinema heavens as long as those labored hard for their present positions.

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin

Faith and Bob looked at her, rigid with anger and amazement, as Cherry stood just inside the door, her light coat—a beautiful coat that Ralph Cluny's money had paid for the autumn before—falling open to show the crumpled little gold-colored georgette dress that scarcely covered the dimpled caps of her knees. Her hat was in her hand, her bright copper-and-gold curls tousled as if swift winds had rushed through them. Her cheeks were flying flags of excitement, her round, red mouth still parted over the laughter with which she had hidden her escort good night, her golden eyes wide, blazing, triumphant.

"Waiting up for me, you funny old dears?" she challenged them, in voice electric with excitement. "I thought I'd give you two an evening to yourselves. Heaven knows you've hinted often enough that you'd like one. Enjoy it?"

"Cherry," Faith's strangled cry preceded her jerky rising from the couch where she had been huddling in fright. "Where in the world have you been? We've been worried sick about you." She walked toward her sister stiffly, her limbs still tremulous with relief and anger, then she reached out her arms in a sudden, overpowering rush of tenderness.

"Punish Faith," Cherry gurgled. "I'm a grown-up woman, darling. Don't be an idiot. I simply went shopping, ran into Selma Pruitt, accepted her invitation to dinner, then went dancing with George Pruitt. Is there anything so terrible about that?"

Cherry's small body stiffened, anger darting like sparks of fire from her golden eyes. "So I'm in disgrace, am I, Mr. Bob Hathaway? Trying to ruin my own sister against me, aren't you? I'd like to know what business it is of yours if I choose to enjoy myself for one evening? God knows I've been sickeningly good since Thanksgiving Day. It's the first time I've danced in public."

"So you danced in public, did you? And expecting a baby in just four months? I thought you had better sense." Bob answered her, his voice clipped and stern. "It may not be any of my business, Cherry, but from now until after the baby is born you're going to do no more dancing. Come along, Faith."

"I'm going to help Cherry get ready for bed," Faith answered in a small, low voice. It was the first time she had defied her husband, the first time she had pitied herself with Cherry against him, in even the smallest difference of opinion.

She did not dare look at him as she preceded Cherry to the little bathroom at the end of the hall, the bath that belonged to Cherry and Joy alone. Her body still felt stiff and queer as she bent to turn on the hot water, as she spread the gay little bath mat for Cherry's feet, as she arranged towels and soap for Cherry's convenience.

As Faith turned blindly away from her tasks of love, Cherry flung herself against her sister's breast, clung to her shoulders. "Don't hate me, Faith! I had to have one last fling! I just had to! I couldn't go on living like this—I just 'waiting' for something—don't want—oh, it isn't fair! I'm tricked! I'm tricked! Save me, Faith! Do something! I tell you I can't bear it to be a mother! I'll hate—Oh! Oh!" Her voice was rising on a crescendo of terror and shame; the nails of her tiny hands dug into Faith's shoulders.

HOW CAN WOMEN KEEP WELL ENOUGH TO GET UP SINGING?

MRS. BELLE THOMPSON

3101 E. 44TH ST., EAST LAKE, TENN. Springtime streamed in through the open windows. The green fields of Georgia were basking in the sunshine. Somewhere a bird was trilling. It was a day to be happy.

But the pale woman at the table sighed and pushed away her plate. Nothing tasted right. She couldn't eat much. She couldn't sleep well, either. She was so weak, it was hard to do her work. When the baby cried, she wanted to cry, too.

She had not been well for four years. Her husband watched her with a man's helpless expression. But his mother knew a remedy.

Circus Veteran Here To Advertise "Greatest Show"

Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus advertising car arrived in Appleton Wednesday morning and in a few minutes a host of men spread over the countryside sticking up poster announcing the world's greatest show will be in Appleton on Thursday, July 28.

Among the men who came to Appleton with the advertising car was "Tom" Dulle of Lancaster, Pa., perhaps the oldest veteran in point of age and of years of service in the circus business. Mr. Dulle has been connected with Ringling Brothers for 36 years. Thirty-five of these years he was head of advertising car no 2 and this year he is getting his final experience as a press agent. Mr. Dulle is 73 years young and is hopeful of putting in at least fourteen more years to round out a half century with Ringling Brothers. Mr. Dulle started with John O'Brien circus almost 33 years ago.

The first visit of Ringling Brothers to Appleton was on May 17, 1885, according to a record carried by Mr. Dulle. The circus at that time consisted of not more than a dozen wagons. The previous year, in 1884, it showed at Hortonville, Manawa, Troy, New Leno, Marion, Tigerton and Wittenberg.

The next year the show pitched its tent again at Hortonville before coming to Appleton. It also showed that year at Kaukauna, Winneconne, Neenah and Oshkosh.

In 1890, the first year the circus was transported by train, it showed all around Appleton but did not stop here. It came here for its second visit in 1891. Appleton now is considered one of the best circus towns in the entire country. Ringling Brothers have not been in Hortonville and the other small towns of its pioneer days since 1887.

The show this year is said to be one-third larger than ever before and contains more features than have before been gathered together under the control of a single management.

Mr. Darling said this season's edition of the big show is the last in monumental entertainment. Pawah, the sacred white elephant of Burma and characterized as the only genuine one of his kind ever brought to America, is among the distinguished features. He will be exhibited in the combined menagerie of more than a thousands animals. The present is to be his only tour as he must be returned to his native land at the end of the show season.

Acts of stupendous size and scope predominate in the 700-foot long main tent, again at Hortonville before coming to Appleton. The show on earth when it exhibits here. Of the forty-three elephants of common breed and color, thirty-two will be seen performing in unison on the ascending levels of a gigantic pedestal. On this they drill or dance while the topmost "backyard" executes the latest "pachyderm" stunts at the pinnacle of the pedestal, twenty feet above the ground. Prior to this formation the big fellows are seen in five herds doing stunts in as many separate rings.

SENATE VOTES DOWN PARK TAX MEASURE

Senate Still Has Three Major Conservation Bills Before It

Madison—(AP)—Following the defeat of the joint committee on finance park bill the state senate still has three major conservation bills to consider before adjournment. All three deal with the purchase of state parks.

The finance bill, killed by a 17 to 13 vote, would have appropriated $950,000 for the purchase of a number of parks, all included in the other three bills yet to be acted upon.

Among those three measures, two have been ordered laid on the table and the third, by Carroll, has not been voted upon except when the senate refused to indefinitely postpone it.

The Carroll bill appropriates approximately $250,000 for the purchase of the Northern Lakes Park in Sawyer county and caused considerable argument when it first came before the lawmakers.

The two park bills laid on the table are by Senators Casperson and Duggott. The Casperson measure asks that $300,000 be appropriated for the purchase of Seven Pines Park, Polk county, and the other bill asks $200,000 for the purchase of the Kettle Moraine region in Sheboygan and Fond du Lac counties.

All of these bills provide the money shall be raised by affixing a surtax or

IMPROVE PARK FOR FARMERS' OUTING

Kline Park to Be Put in First Class Condition for Big Picnic

Kaukauna—Kline's park will be put in first class condition for the big farmer picnic to be held there Sunday Aug. 14. At a meeting of delegates from the farmer's Grange, the Equity Shipping association and Wisconsin Cheese Producers' federation at Neenah Monday evening, it was decided that Kline's park at Kaukauna would afford an ideal location for the picnic. Mr. C. C. Sullivan was present at the meeting and offered the Kaukauna location. He has been attempting to secure this picnic for the city for the past month. The picnic will be state wide and several thousand farmers will spend the entire day in Kaukauna.

Running water is being put in the park and additional benches and tables are being built for it. Rest rooms and other conveniences will be placed in the park for the picnic. The picnic is worth several hundred dollars in the advertising it will give Kaukauna. No private individual will be allowed to operate the concessions, he cautioned. They will give them to the churches of the city and societies. Several requests made by individuals to operate the concessions were refused by the mayor on Tuesday.

At the Monday night meeting the three farmer organizations made it clear that the picnic would not be a political gathering and no men holding public office will be a speaker. It was hoped to make it purely a social gathering.

Social Items

Wednesday morning, Kaukauna's youngest and smallest baseball team journeyed to Kimberly to meet the youngest and smallest from that village. These teams are composed of youngsters not over 13 years of age. The Electric City "Infants" won the first game at Kaukauna a week ago by a 11 to 10 score. Mr. Smith has a choice of three good pitchers from this team. Gordon Nicholson, J. Bell the son of Gordon Nicholson, is ready to toe the slab at a minute's notice. Landmarks of the Air

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is contributing to American flying in very practical ways. One outstanding contribution is an immense program of marking air trails by guide marks painted on the roofs of its warehouses.

When the need arises, with the expansion of commercial aviation, these may be illuminated as guides for night flying.

The Air Mail has conclusively disposed of any misgivings about night flying. It has shown that not only is it practical and safe to fly at night when the right facilities are provided, but that there are atmospheric and other advantages in night flying.

It seems particularly appropriate that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) should provide these landmarks of the air.

For years the signs of this Company have been familiar landmarks on all the highways and the byways of the ten great Middle Western States, and now this service is being extended to the air.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has developed gasoline and motor oil to meet the requirements of every type of automobile and has distributed these products where they could be obtained conveniently throughout the Middle West.

Extending its service to meet the needs of transportation in the air, the technical division of this Company has developed special gasolines and lubricating oils for airplanes. It is now supplying a large part of the gasoline and oil for aviation.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has pointed the way to motorists—furnishing free maps of the ten states—charting places of interest and beauty, publishing information about them, and giving their exact locations on motor highways.

To point the way to aviators, by means of airway designation on the roofs of its warehouses, is but an expansion of this service. In the air, as well as on the land, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) will act as a friendly guide.

This Company is always found in the front rank of progress. In the early days it went ahead with the pioneers and helped to chart the uncharted waters of the Middle West.

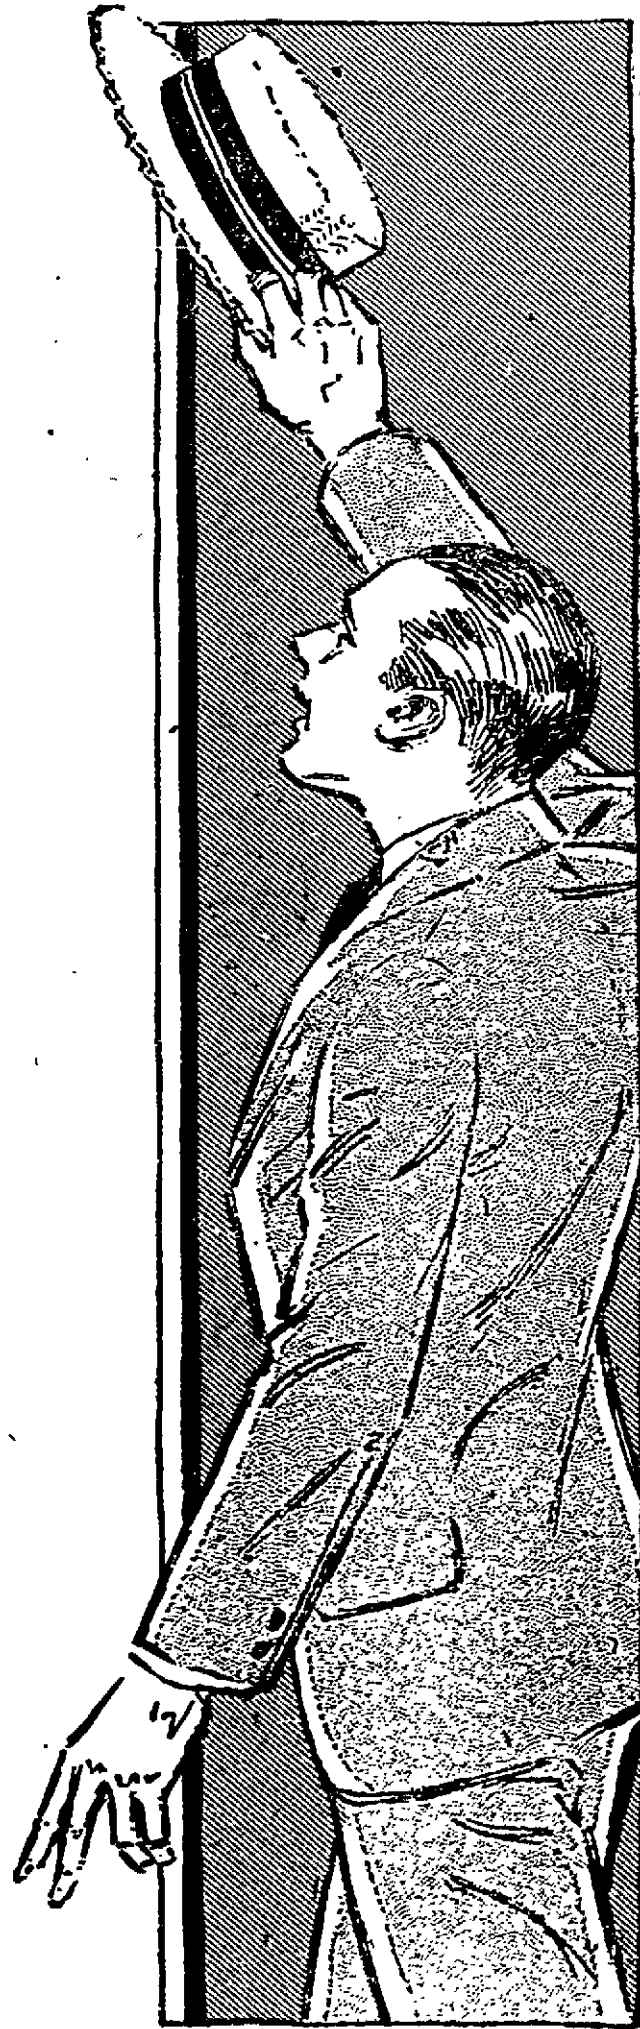

Today this organization is going ahead with the pioneers of the air, helping to chart the uncharted skies.

With the expansion of knowledge and scientific skill, the service of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is being expanded.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is contributing to American flying, having demonstrated its practical advantages in its own organization, because the management of this Company believes that commercial aviation is important to the welfare and prosperity of the thirty million people whom it serves.

WHEN SHEFFIELD RESIGNED

This picture was taken at Rapid City, S. D. and shows Ambassador R. Sheffield, President Coolidge shortly after the ambassador had presented his resignation as the United States envoy to Mexico.

Appleton Pioneer Passes 100th Birthday In West

Duncan M. Johnston, who recently celebrated his one-hundredth birthday anniversary in California, has the distinction of being a "grand old man" of four states—California, Kansas, Nebraska and Wisconsin—according to an article prepared by Dr. John Paville of Lake Mills, formerly pastor of First Congregational church here. Mr. Johnston spent the early years of his life in Appleton but left here a great many years ago.

Following is the sketch of his life prepared by Dr. Paville. In the year 1845, Col. William Johnston and his wife, Harriet Paville, came from New York state and settled on a farm or rather in the woods in the town of Grand Chute two miles north of Appleton. They had a family of six sons, William, John P., Duncan M., Michael, George and Asa. All grew up to manhood and all made their homes in Wisconsin or near Appleton. All were musical and were members of the first brass band organized in Appleton. John P., was the leader of the band and Duncan M., played the trombone. John P. also became the first mayor of Appleton. Duncan M. joined the gold seekers, "the 49ers". He went to California and then to Australia. He took the famous trip "around the horn".

He had a great experience. He did not rob California or Australia of its gold but returned to Appleton, bought a farm opposite his father's and for a time did pioneer service in Outagamie county. Later he moved to Tunkia, Kansas, when it was one of the "border ruffian" states. While there he was a part of the time in government employ as an inspector of lands. He was elected a member of the legislature and became one of the forces that helped build Kansas against slavery and for the union. He moved to Omaha, Nebraska, then to San Francisco, California, and his home the past ten years has been Sweetwater Ranch, Kelseyville, California, where with two daughters and a son he has been "a moving up with the country". On May 3, 1927, he celebrated his one hundredth birthday. His daughters were "his neighbors and friends in Kelseyville and Lake County turned out en masse on Friday afternoon to pay respects and to congratulate the centenarian." Two original poems were dedicated to him by local poets. "The Kelseyville Sun's report in part was: 'Not once in a blue moon does one attain to the ripe age of 100 years and certainly not often' than that does one have the unusual opportunity of extending felicitations to a centenarian." "The first occurrence of this kind in Lake County of which we have any knowledge was celebrated in Rincon Valley, just south of Kelseyville on merce commission's investigation of middle-western freight rate structures. While Wisconsin advanced from 19th to 10th in state rank industrially between 1850 and 1920, the population advanced from 24th to 13th among the United States, the survey reveals. "Strikingly important" says the survey, "is the disclosure that the percentage of the population industrially employed in Wisconsin advanced from 1.9 in 1850 to 10.0 in 1920. This represents an increase of 4.34 per cent in persons industrially employed compared to a 760 per cent increase in total population."

And Duncan M. Johnston, the "grand old man of California, Kansas, Nebraska and Wisconsin" summed it all up on the day of his celebration by saying "It is worth living a hundred years."

The tabulation of the manufacturers group shows Wisconsin's population 305,301 in 1850 and 2,632,067 in 1920. The value of industrial products in the period given increased from $9,233,068 to $1,846,984,000. The tabulation shows the following additional facts:

Your Question And Its Answer

J. A. PANNECK, D. C. PALMER CHIROPRACTOR

QUESTION: I suffer from periodical bells or carbuncles could be helped by Chiropactic Adjustments?—C. W. M. ANSWER: These are conditions of faulty elimination. People who are troubled with faulty elimination have one or more sick vital organs. For example, let us assume that the kidneys do not work properly. Elimination is not thorough. The result will be boils, carbuncles, pimples, sores and skin eruptions. If that part of the spine is corrected where the nerves lead off from the spine to the kidneys, normal elimination will result. Chiropactic adjusts the cause of these troubles. QUESTION: Can you do anything for asthma?—H. A. ANSWER: Yes, good results have been obtained in such cases. When the vertebrae are adjusted and the pressure is removed from the great nerve trunk supplying your bronchial tubes your breathing difficulties will eventually leave. QUESTION: Can Catarrh be relieved by Chiropactic Adjustments?—H. B. ANSWER: Certainly. Catarrh of any tissue or organ is simply a weakened condition caused by lack of nerve force. When the nerves supplying such parts are freed from pressure and life giving nerve force is turned on when the subluxation is corrected the mental impulse flows to the Catarrhal membranes, they become healthy and strong. This holds true not only with throats and stomachs, but with all other parts of body. FOR YOUR HEALTH APPOINTMENT PHONE 4219 OFFICE 215 W. COLLEGE-AVE. HOURS: 10 TO 12:30 TO 5:00 P. JONES SCORES 68 IN FIRST ROUND OF BRITISH TITLE PLAY

Mehlhorn, Barnes And Kirkwood Also Qualify For English Golf Crown

Cyril Tolley Is Low in Qualifying Round With 144; Many Stars Fall

St. Andrews, Scotland—(P)—Bobby Jones struck a decisive blow in defense of his British open golf title by scoring a sensational 68 for the first 18 of the 72 hole to decide the title.

Bobby was on the par four 18th hole with his second, 16 feet from the cup. He barely missed the putt for the birdie to get 67 and break the record of the ancient course. As he tapped the ball home for the par and tie of the course's best, the great crowd massed about the green burst into wild cheers.

St. Andrews, Scotland—Any one of four Americans—Bobby Jones, Bill Mehlhorn, Jim Barnes and Joe Kirkwood, among eight entrants from the United States and an even 100 others who qualified Tuesday for the British open—figures as a likely winner of the golf championship which Americans have won five times in the past six years.

That was the opinion of British golfers who at the close of thirty-six holes of the qualifying round were searching the qualifying lists for a man to represent the British in the final round. Besides the quartet of crack Americans whom the British fear most there is a reserve of four more from the United States to halt any ambitious English assault. This group is comprised of Larry Nabholz, John G. Anderson, Walter Knott and Tom Stevens. Nabholz attracted so much attention today, chiefly by his long, accurate driving, that he is ranked by many experts close to the American "Big Four."

Jones, after a fine 71 today, remained the outstanding favorite. Mehlhorn added his second 72 today for a 146, one stroke better than Joe Kirkwood, the American contingent of qualifiers.

There are a number of famous names in British golf missing from tomorrow's starting list in the championship flight. George Duncan, for instance, who holds the St. Andrews course record with a 68, and who all week in practice was shooting within a stroke or two of that figure, will not be there, for he took four putts on the first green, three shots in a bunker at the second, and altogether too many at other places for a day's total of 82 and an aggregate of 162. Roger Wetherhead, another golf personality carrying British hopes, passed out with a 161.

The honor of leading the qualifying field goes to Cyril Tolley, former British amateur champion, who returned a score of 144. Tolley was at the peak of his game, driving an accurate, long ball. Tolley is somewhat erratic—much like Wild Bill Mehlhorn, but if he continues to keep on the narrow St. Andrews fairways on his tremendous tee shots he may yet prove to be the real hope of the British.

Bobby Jones played today like the great champion he is. His round over the despatch "new" course was something to marvel at, for most golfers contend this course isn't a fair test, and when the championship was last held at St. Andrews six years ago, entrants refused to play the qualifying round over it.

Jones went out into the uncharted hills and hollows of the new course this afternoon and came back with his 71 to show the St. Andrews golfers just how easy it is to play the holes if shots are executed correctly. The Atlanta youngster was awarded for his courage with five birdies and for a time threatened to equal his 68 of last week. Evidently satisfied with his qualifying rounds, however, Bobby relaxed somewhat on the homeward journey and took three fives.

Mehlhorn played a round of steady, careful golf for his 72, putted excel-

CUBS WIN 6 AND 2 TO KEEP IN FIRST PLACE; PIRATES BEAT ROBINS

Ruth Goes Ahead of Gehrig in Yankee Home Run Battle; Sox Win

Star clouters of the Major leagues did their stuff Tuesday. Home runs were made by Babe Ruth, Rogers Hornsby and George Sisler. Ruth's wallop came in the ninth inning of the game with Cleveland and gave the Babe an edge on Lou Gehrig in their scrabble for swatting supremacy. Ruth now has 30 homers to his credit, with "Columbia Lou" one behind. The Yanks whitewashed the Indians 7 to 0. Hornsby's clout in the sixth inning with Lindstrom on base gave the Giants a 2-2 victory over Cincinnati. Sisler's homer came with tow on in the ninth at St. Louis and gave the Browns a 6-5 win from the Boston Red Sox.

Chicago's Cubs continued in first place in the National league. The Cubs played out 13 hits while Blake was holding the Boston Braves to three for a 6-2 victory. The Pittsburgh Pirates kept at the Cubs' heels by beating Dazzy Vance and the Brooklyn Dodgers 2-1.

The St. Louis Cardinals 9 to 6 victory over Philadelphia rounded out the clean sweep by first division teams over second division opponents.

The Chicago White Sox rallied in the sixth inning to trim Connie Mack's Athletics 5 to 5. Rommel and Pate were driven out in that stanza by a six run assault. The defeat prevented the Mackmen from climbing back into the American league's first division, for the Detroit Tigers were losing to Washington 9 to 5.

UZZUDUN AND WILLS BATTLE IN BROOKLYN

Giant Negro Will Have Advantage in Weight, Height and Reach

New York—(P)—Once the most feared boxer in the heavyweight division, Harry Wills, the brown panther of New Orleans will try to turn back the years Wednesday night in his 18 round fight with Paulino Uzcudun, Patented giant, at Ebbetts field. The crafty Negro now a prosperous resident of New York's Harlem district is pitted against one of the strongest men in the boxing game. Uzcudun's ability to assimilate punishment has been demonstrated and although he "throws" most of his punches he is a dangerous brawler in the path of Wills' comeback attempt.

After 17 years in the ring Wills, long the logical contender for a title at which he never got a chance, is a slight favorite. Wills will have the advantage of 15 pounds in weight, two inches in reach and two inches in height.

Chicago—(P)—Sergeant Sammy Baker, New York, knocked out Mushy Callahan, Los Angeles junior welterweight champion 4, F. Del LaBarba, Los Angeles, 11, weight champion defeated Pat Moore, Memphis, 10 (Non title) Stanislaus Loyola, Chile, defeated Spig Myers, Pocatello 10, Ignacio Fernandez, Philippines, beat Joe Lucas, Detroit, 10.

lently, sank two long ones for birdie three on the outward jaunt and never was in real trouble.

Some folks expressed surprise that I turned down the $300,000 called for by my contract. Johnson said as he began putting his official house in order at league headquarters here.

"There was nothing surprising in that. I hope the American league owes me something, but whatever it is, if anything, it couldn't be paid in money."

Perhaps Johnson had in mind those early years of struggle to establish a name. Maybe it was the recollection of steady growth of the circuit, the thought of millions of dollars that has been paid into the box office by American fans. More likely it was the knowledge that he had accomplished what he set out to accomplish—"make baseball the greatest professional sport in America."

As yet, he sounded a warning: "I've heard rumblings for some time of a third league. I wouldn't be surprised to see one started within two years. That is why the majors should not lose their respect for the fan or lessen their efforts to keep the game a game."

At the prepared way for his unnamed successor he said "I've done my best for baseball—and I'm getting old. I hated to let go the reins. Who doesn't hate to leave the work he's given his life to?"

"I have no hard feelings toward the club owners who thought they needed a new leader. I've done my best to help them. Sometimes I've chastised them. None of them can say that Ban Johnson ever shirked his job."

Jim Pease has made his absence felt in Kimberly. He has won both his events without much trouble and in addition has been smoking the torch at a 400 yard clip. The return of Pease was a life saver for Kimberly as its pitching staff was rather badly shot to pieces.

Charles Lane five runs in the ninth inning. Appletton pulled a postcard Valley job to game out of the fire by the score of 11 to 10. The Collections were trading 10 to 3 when they entered the ninth stanza. Schultz, Bantz and Van Wack, the Appletton slugging trio, each came across with home runs.

Pease, the Valley League umpire from Oshkosh, will probably be back on the job within a week or two. The huffy mutator was knocked cold by a foul tip in a game at Kaukauna about a month ago and has been on the shelf ever since. Reas-

PAIS PLAY RETURN GAME HERE SUNDAY; K-C'S STILL LEADERS

SUNDAY'S GAMES
Menasha at Appletton.
Kimberly at Oshkosh.
Kaukauna at Neenah.
Green Bay bye.

Tuesday evening was regular practice night for the Appletton baseball team and they had plenty of it. But that was to be expected after the terrible antics they went through Sunday afternoon to hand Green Bay a victory and send the Bay fans home talking pennants. However, some of that practice should have been had inside the ballpark.

Sunday afternoon the Baletmen again play in their own backyard meeting the Menasha club at the Brandt park. It will be the second meeting in the last week of the teams, the Papermakers having capped a late victory 11 to 10 at Menasha last Saturday.

Menasha has a ball team that is not to be laughed at for they can make it the Babe's tools—just between spells of their struggle for the home run supremacy of the American League, and, incidentally, the world. The Babe was ahead when this photograph was taken and that's why he is playing so gleefully on the new sax given him by Paul Whiteman, famous orchestra leader. And Columbia Lou is laughing at the Babe—perhaps because he intends breaking the Babe's record this season!

The results of Sunday's games show Kimberly is still the top with only two losses. The K-C's have an extra two games to play before the season draws to an end and the result of these may change the standings a bit. Mark this in your bonnet, however, the villagers have no intention of losing any more games this season.

Menasha has a side job in the all-around team in the league. Clarence Poon is expected to solve all their pitching trouble from now on for he should be able to work once a week and their are still three other twirlers on the team for special duty.

The high riding Bays are parked on the second rung following their sixth straight victory over Appletton Sunday. The Green Sox are feeling pretty cocky over their string and make no bones about it that they are expecting to have a word about the winning of the bunting. Can't say they looked so impressive against Appletton though, and its still a long time before the end of the season.

Appletton comes along in fourth place behind Oshkosh but after Sunday's game, they'll have another position in the race. Noel's outfit has capped the last two games by overwhelming scores but that is no criterion as to the team's worth. The Sax Dust city boys have just been back here when he played the finest golf of his career to win the British Amateur. Bobby Jones was almost without practice when he spreadeagled the great southern open field by eight strokes. And Watts Gunn, the darkhaired youngster from A. Antuh, Gawgah, was underweight and suffering with toxemia, when he gave a stiff lacing to Roland McKenna of Washington, shooting five birdies in a row and breaking the Garden City course record with a 69.

Two years ago at Oakmont, with his name virtually unknown to the golfing world, Watts played into the finals in the national amateur.

He won fifteen holes in a row from Vincent Bradford of Pittsburgh, and from being three down at the turn, he went into the second round. Richard Jones fell before his advance and the mighty Sweetser was closed out on the twenty-seventh.

Then Watts found himself face to face with Bobby Jones in a battle for the championship. His inspired golf began to waver before the boy who had helped him with his game and he was beaten.

"I don't know how I am doing it," Watts told Bobby as he was in the midst of his triumphant sweep to the finals. "I feel scared to death and kind of numb. At first I tried to steer my shots and figure out the game. Then I put loose with everything I had and things went right."

Gunn learned his golf over the first hour course in Nacora, Ga., and first attracted attention by winning the state title when only 17. This brought him a match with Jones and a determination to make of himself a golf solfer.

Thanks to effective pitching by Lowellen and errorless ball by his team mates, Green Bay stretched its league winning strait to six in a row by dumping Appletton 9 to 5 in the College city before the largest crowd of the year. Appletton didn't get a run off Lowellen until the eighth round.

Oshkosh is going to make a determined bid for next year's national speed boat regatta. A. W. Dunham of the Saukville City was recently elected president of the organization at the conclusion of the racing program at Houston, Tex. The Lake Winnebago course is ideal for speed events, it is said.

Interest in trap shooting seems to be on the climb in this part of the state. Clubs are blooming forth in a number of cities and several "gun" leagues are functioning nicely. Last Sunday, Kaukauna staged a first class shoot and a young army of trap shooters popped away at the targets.

Marquette's board of education is still searching around for somebody to fill Tom Johnson's shoes as football coach. A number of applications are on file but the educational authorities are moving slowly because they want to hand pick every prospect before making the final selection.

Here's Babe Ruth tootin' away and Lou Gehrig laughing hilariously at the Babe's tools—just between spells of their struggle for the home run supremacy of the American League, and, incidentally, the world. WATTS GUNN DOESN'T PLAY ORTHODOX GOLF

Intercollegiate Champion Says He Just Stands Up and Hits Ball

Atlanta—Good golf, says Bobby Cruikshank, is a matter of feeling the club in the tips of your fingers.

Good golf, contradicts Watts Gunn, fresh from winning the national intercollegiate championship at Garden City, L. I., is a matter of "playing in a trance, of being scared to death and hitting the ball with no worry where it will go."

These are two more of the many explanations of inspired rounds of golfers shot at times. Some followers of the ancient game are satisfied with the simple statement:

"He got hot."

These sensational rounds are not always the result of physical fitness, nor of keen training, as witness Watts Gunn, a student at the University of Washington, who played the finest golf of his career to win the British Amateur. Bobby Jones was almost without practice when he spreadeagled the great southern open field by eight strokes. And Watts Gunn, the darkhaired youngster from A. Antuh, Gawgah, was underweight and suffering with toxemia, when he gave a stiff lacing to Roland McKenna of Washington, shooting five birdies in a row and breaking the Garden City course record with a 69.

Two years ago at Oakmont, with his name virtually unknown to the golfing world, Watts played into the finals in the national amateur.

He won fifteen holes in a row from Vincent Bradford of Pittsburgh, and from being three down at the turn, he went into the second round. Richard Jones fell before his advance and the mighty Sweetser was closed out on the twenty-seventh.

Then Watts found himself face to face with Bobby Jones in a battle for the championship. His inspired golf began to waver before the boy who had helped him with his game and he was beaten.

"I don't know how I am doing it," Watts told Bobby as he was in the midst of his triumphant sweep to the finals. "I feel scared to death and kind of numb. At first I tried to steer my shots and figure out the game. Then I put loose with everything I had and things went right."

Gunn learned his golf over the first hour course in Nacora, Ga., and first attracted attention by winning the state title when only 17. This brought him a match with Jones and a determination to make of himself a golf solfer.

Thanks to effective pitching by Lowellen and errorless ball by his team mates, Green Bay stretched its league winning strait to six in a row by dumping Appletton 9 to 5 in the College city before the largest crowd of the year. Appletton didn't get a run off Lowellen until the eighth round.

Oshkosh is going to make a determined bid for next year's national speed boat regatta. A. W. Dunham of the Saukville City was recently elected president of the organization at the conclusion of the racing program at Houston, Tex. The Lake Winnebago course is ideal for speed events, it is said.

Interest in trap shooting seems to be on the climb in this part of the state. Clubs are blooming forth in a number of cities and several "gun" leagues are functioning nicely. Last Sunday, Kaukauna staged a first class shoot and a young army of trap shooters popped away at the targets.

Marquette's board of education is still searching around for somebody to fill Tom Johnson's shoes as football coach. A number of applications are on file but the educational authorities are moving slowly because they want to hand pick every prospect before making the final selection.

NORTHWESTERN HAS OUTSTANDING GROUP IN COACHES SCHOOL

Summer Session for Athletic Heads Will Be Held Aug. 17 to 27

Evansville, Ill.—A number of the outstanding football coaches in the country are on the staff of the summer coaching school to be conducted at Northwestern university Aug. 17 to 27. Courses in football, basketball and swimming are to be offered in the school.

Dick Hanley, head football coach at Northwestern will have charge of the football course. Supplementary lectures will be given by such well known grid experts as Jess Hawley, head football coach at Dartmouth; Arnold Horween, head coach at Harvard; Judge Walter Scott, head coach at Carnegie Tech; Duke Dunne, line coach at Harvard and John Schommer, prominent Big Ten football and basketball official.

Other members of the football staff include Pat Hanley, who was chief aide to his brother at Haskell and is now assistant coach at Northwestern; Tim Lowry, former all-western center and Earl Stenger, former football captain at Michigan. These latter three will serve as field assistants to Coach Hanley in the practical demonstrations each day at Dyche stadium.

K. L. Wilson, athletic director at Northwestern, will conduct a course in the organization and theory of athletic departments. Tom Robinson, the Purple's famous swimming monitor, will give an intensive course in swimming and life saving. Coach Robinson's success at Northwestern where his teams have won the Big Ten title nine times since 1914 marks him as one of the outstanding swimming coaches in the country.

Arthur Longberg, head basketball coach at Northwestern and Ted Payson, freshman coach, will conduct classes in basketball. Coach Longberg learned basketball under Forrest Allen at Kansas university where he was an all-valley guard for three years. While coach at Washburn college, Topeka, Kan., he turned out two conference championship fives and one National A. A. U. championship team. Coach Payson, one of the greatest forward players ever produced in the Missouri valley when he played at Drake university has had unusual success with freshman cage teams at Northwestern.

Coaches and others who desire to enter the ten day course are requested to send their applications to K. L. Wilson, Patton gymnasium, Evansville, Ill.

Sharkey's youth and speed may bring win Dempsey resumes training After One Day Layoff; Punching Hard

New York—(P)—Jack Sharkey is young and very fast for a big man, and these two assets a group of boxers have concluded after watching the ex-gob training ought to carry him to victory against Jack Dempsey at the Yankee stadium one week from Thursday.

Mike McGuire, Jack Britton, Philadelphia, Jack O'Brien, Jack Barfield, Jim Montgomery, and others who speak of the fight game from experience, have named him the favorite. All took in Sharkey's workout Tuesday and while none cared to take a side in the forthcoming heavyweight issue, each saw Sharkey's youth, strength and cleverness as winning factors. Sharkey's program Tuesday lacked the fire and dash of the previous day.

It was apparent he was saving his partners punishment to work for timing. Tex Rickard announced that the advance sale for the fight is near the $700,000 mark.

Saratoga Lake, N. Y.—(P)—After a day of idleness Jack Dempsey was intent on giving his sparring partners plenty of work Wednesday. With only six more days of training left before he steps into the ring to meet Jack Sharkey, at the Yankee stadium, Dempsey is satisfied he will overcome the youth and speed of Sharkey with an old fashioned exhibition of punching.

In his workouts Dempsey has failed to display any flashing speed, and his boxing has been visible by its lack of effectiveness, but he has been punching apparently as hard as ever in his brilliant career and it is the power of his punch on which he depends to carry him through to a victory.

Dempsey has deliberately taken blow after blow from his sparring partners. To weave into closed quarters and batter away at their bodies.

EXPECT FRENCH STARS TO WIN U. S. NET TITLE

New York—Unless a dark horse enters the present dope, two Americans and three French stars will fight it out in September for the honor of being termed the best American tennis players.

The present outlook indicates that the three French stars—Henri Cochet, Rene Lacoste and Jean Borotra—will have no trouble getting ahead of Bill Tilden and Bill Johnston, the two Americans.

These three Frenchmen seem to be playing their greatest games now, while the American stars are beginning to slip noticeably.

WOOLEN MILLS VICTORS OVER MACHINE CO. 19-6

The Appletton Woolen mills team defeated the Appletton Machine Co. out in a softball game Tuesday evening, 19 to 6. Batteries for the Machine company nine were Doerfer and Horn; for the Woolen mills, Schwandt and Bongers. Heavy hitting and errorless fielding gave the Woolens their victory. Thursday evening the Peterson-Rehbein team of the Butcher league plays the Woolen mill aggregation at the Packard-st playground.

SAMMY BAKER BEATS MUSHY CALLAHAN BUT CANNOT CLAIM CROWN

New York Welter Enters Ring Four Pounds Overweight; LaBarba Wins

Chicago—(P)—Except for four pounds Sergeant Sammy Baker of New York would be the junior welterweight champion of the world Wednesday.

He shot so many lefts and rights into Mushy Callahan, the champion, in their scheduled 10 round fight at Cubs park Tuesday night that the Los Angeles scrappier went down and out in the ninth round. Baker was four pounds over the junior welterweight limit, so Callahan kept his title.

A right to the chin in the ninth dropped Callahan. He attempted to rise to his feet but the referee refused to let him continue.

Rarely has such perfect punching timing and accuracy been seen in a Chicago ring. Baker's shots invariably found their mark. Callahan's defeat was forecast as early as the fourth round when Baker sank a powerful left in the stomach which left the champion wobbling even into the next round.

Despite three knockdowns, Pocatello lightweight went the full 10 rounds with the aggressive crouching Chilean, Stanislaus Loyola, but he never was able to fatigue the tough attack. Loyola, getting the unanimous vote, Ignacio Fernandez the Filipino who stopped Abe Attel Goldstein a few weeks ago in the same ring found Joe Lucas of Detroit a tougher antagonist, but gained the decision. Each showed the effects of the others' singlefist slugfests. They are bantams.

Fidel LaBarba, the flyweight champion easily whipped Pat Moore in 10 rounds at 113 pounds.

GAMES THIS WEEK
Wednesday—Badger Printers vs. Post-Crescent.
Thursday—Brandts vs. Bankers.
Friday—Interlakes vs. Civic Club.

They played a pretty good game of softball down at Jones Park Tuesday evening and from reports that we received the game was won by the Brandts 2 to 1. That's not quite official however, for there was a squabble about a decision that "Charley" made in his capacity as umpire and maybe the league president will have to decide how the game came out. "Vhe" this was written hadn't heard about it yet so we'll have something to say later.

Tonight the boys from the shop will go down and chew the fat with the Badger Printers. We've been trimmed in the last couple games and must win to redeem ourselves. Boss Starnard says that he's going to present a changed lineup. Guess Joe and Frank and Doc and some others of the gang better come down and give us the once over.

WHILE your child is acquiring those ideals on which character depends, piano study will lift her out of the commonplace into a happier, fuller, finer development. Poise, magnetism, charm, culture—these qualities go hand in hand with the ability to play the piano.

Your child can be one of the countless unaccomplished, or one of the envied few. The opportunity, the obligation to decide, is yours. Stop in at our showrooms. There is no obligation, of course.

JACK LOCKWILL'S POLICE DOG

Jack grasped the boy's collar. "Wait!" he said sharply. "You must tell me who you are and where you live." "It ain't none of your business!" cried the boy, struggling. "Leggo of me!" Seemingly frightened, he fought like a young wild-cat, clawing and biting. Suddenly he kicked Jack on the shins with sufficient force to make Jack let go and keel over on the ground.

"Why, you little savage!" said Jack, as he sat up and rubbed his shin in astonishment. "You got me out of that hole, and I wanted to be a friend to you."

"Oh, I didn't mean to hurt yer bad!" cried the boy, kneeling beside Jack. "Hope I didn't bust yer leg—or anything! I'm just a bad, tough girl—that's all I am!" "Girl!" gulped Jack, turning his head to stare. "Yep, I'm a girl, not a boy," said the stranger, sobbing. "But I wish I'd been born a boy! Hang the luck!" "Well, you can knock me cold with a feather!" Jack gasped.

LOWDEN EXPLAINS FARM RELIEF PLAN

ry, unsatisfactory prices always result in reduced production. This is not so in industry only a small percentage of the cost of production is in overhead charges. By far the larger factor consists of wages and raw materials. The manufacturer can reduce his production as greatly as he may desire, with something like a corresponding reduction in the cost of operation of his plant. Not so the farmer.

OVERHEAD IS SAME

The overhead charges of the farmer are the main items in cost of production, and they do not materially change from year to year, whatever his acreage in crops. He furnishes for the most part his own labor. His taxes remain the same. His equipment does not greatly vary. Therefore, when prices are low, he must increase his acreage of cash crops in order to meet his cash outlay, even though he knows he is not receiving cost of production for a single unit of his product.

To illustrate, if the farmer's taxes and interest on the bare necessities of life for himself and his family require a cash outlay of $2,000, and prices are low, he must push his acreage in cash crops to the limit, with the hope of securing the $2,000 which should have been his. Capital therefore would not be diverted from other activities to agriculture in that situation.

"And then the argument proves too much. If it be true that the farmer will overproduce simply because he is getting for his product cost of production with some profit, it follows that the farmer must always sell his product at less than the cost of production. This cannot be so unless we are to revise completely our economic system."

"It may be that there is a better solution of the problem than the one I have suggested. I only say that there is a human problem here, and that a solution must be found if we would preserve our civilization. There are many earnest men who believe there is no solution. I came across them with increasing frequency, but I cannot yield to this gloomy view."

COSTLY DISTRIBUTION

The trouble with the present system of marketing and distribution is that too small a part of what the consumers pay goes to the producer and too large a part is absorbed in the cost of distribution. The cost of production, during the years 1923, 1924 and 1925, the price of hogs fluctuated about 100 per cent. The price of pork products fluctuated about one-third as much. During the same period the price of hogs dropped 40 per cent. The price of pork products dropped 25 per cent.

"Through trade associations and similar practices the manufacturers have largely taken the control of prices in their hands. Naturally, the producer usually arrives at a price by computing the cost of production and adding what he considers a reasonable profit. It has followed from this trend that brokers and middlemen in all other lines of business have gradually disappeared. The producer has assumed the burden of naming the price. The broker is no longer needed.

"And so the farmer is groping for some way by which he shall have the same voice as to the price of his products as the broker has in determining the price for them."

FIXING PRICES

"Nor has the farmer, as is commonly supposed, any quarrel with the law of supply and demand. Some one must in the first instance name the price of any commodity. It does not come down from the sky. Other producers have regulated the volume of their product which is on the market at any one time. In this way the price does not fluctuate from day to day and from hour to hour. Nor is it the fool that has the power to name the price of his product who has no interest in his enterprise and who are concerned only with trading profits."

"What the farmer asks is that he be given the same right to name a price in the first instance and that he be enabled to acquire an organization which will secure to him the same power to maintain that price which other industries through their superior organizations now enjoy."

"Those who tire of the farmer's complaint say that he must adjust his production to the probable demand for his product. But the farmer cannot avoid the occasional surplus and if there were no surpluses some years, there would be a deficiency in others, and the world would be lacking in sufficient food and clothes. The farmer must always plan to raise surplus but just enough if the world is to be fed and clothed."

U. S. FARM BOARD

"Some of us have thought we have seen an analogy between the occasional surplus of staple farm crops and the surplus created by the Federal Reserve System."

"We therefore suggested a Federal Farm Board. We have proposed that such Board should be vested with power of inquiring into certain facts. These facts are: Is there a temporary surplus or a surplus above domestic requirements of some farm products? Does this surplus depress the price below cost of production with a reasonable profit? Are the growers of the product sufficiently organized as to be fairly representative of all the producers of that product and do they desire this assistance? If the Board finds that all of these questions must be answered 'yes' it is then empowered to authorize the cooperative to take control of the surplus."

"The only aid from the government which the cooperative would require would be that the Government should distribute among all the producers of the particular commodity the cost to

GENERAL MOTORS SENDS TRUCK CARAVAN HERE

A demonstration of the modern truck is the purpose of the visit of a caravan of General Motors Trucks to Appleton on Wednesday and Thursday. The caravan is under the direction of W. T. Upham, Milwaukee, district representative for the General Motors Truck Co.

The caravan is touring the entire state, it was said. Headquarters here are at the Conway hotel while here. An announcement was made Wednesday that a fleet of LaSalle cars will arrive in Appleton Thursday afternoon for a two or three day visit and that arrangements will be made for public inspection of the machines.

DRUNK TAKEN FROM CAR PAYS $10 FINE IN COURT

Ralph Johnson, Florence, pleaded guilty of drunkenness Wednesday morning before County Court Judge Fred V. Heinemann, acting for Judge Theodore Herz in his absence, and paid a fine of $10 and costs of $4.20. Johnson was arrested at 12:35 Wednesday morning by Police Captain P. J. Vaughn and Officers Carl Radtke and F. F. Arndt, while he was sitting in a parked automobile on N. Tenth. He spent the night in the city jail.

Bernard Ellison, route 5, Green Bay, pleaded guilty Wednesday morning in municipal court of driving an automobile without license. A representative of the Nelson Machine Co., Green Bay, appeared on his behalf before Judge Heinemann to enter the plea. He expressed doubt that the law had been violated by Ellison was in transit. Rather than to enter a plea to that effect, however, and face further appearance in court, he paid the fine, which amounted to $10 and costs of $3.40.

Ellison was arrested July 9, by Gus Hersekorn, city motorcycle officer.

PARK BARRICADES TO REMAIN UP TWO WEEKS

Barricades on the roads in Pierce park will not be removed until the new pavilion is completed, which will be in about two weeks, according to B. J. Zuehlke, a member of the park board. The paths through the park now are open for pedestrians and all of the roads may be opened to light traffic before the two weeks are up, Mr. Zuehlke said. The roads through the park will remain closed, however, until a coating of tar can be applied.

Employees of the Chicago Landscape Co., which had charge of the work in the park, left the city Wednesday night and will return in two weeks after the pavilion is completed.

The work of the park board includes building of a service road to the pavilion and leveling of the ground around the building.

FEW CELLARS FLOODED BY HEAVY RAINFALL

In spite of the heavy rains of Tuesday evening only a few sewers of the city were unable to carry away the flood water, according to R. F. Hackworth, street commissioner. In one district where the sewer was overflowing several basements were flooded.

Asphalt and gravel work on the Pacific st bridge has been completed, Mr. Hackworth said. Work on Wisconsin-ave was started Wednesday afternoon when a Holt tractor which was being demonstrated to city officials by a company representative, overturned the surface and leveled the roadbed.

BOY HURLED BY CAR BUT ESCAPES SERIOUS HURTS

Joseph Bierstocher, 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bierstocher of Little Chute, was struck by an automobile driven by a Kaukauna man which was traveling toward Appleton at about 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The boy, who ran from behind a bus, dashed into the path of the car and was hurled high into the air. Although he was unconscious when he struck the pavement, the boy soon recovered and apparently is suffering no ill effects from the accident.

DRIVER HITS POLE TO AVOID STRIKING CAR

When Douglas Kaufman, 1115 N. Durkee-st, who was driving an automobile north on N. Durkee-st, turned west on E. Pacific-st at 4:50 Tuesday afternoon to avoid a collision with another machine, he drove into a telephone pole. Lorraine-st, was forced over the curb, according to a report by the police department. The Jens machine, traveling west on E. Pacific at the time, collided with a telephone post beyond the curb.

The cooperative of handling the surplus. Neither the government nor the Government demands that the price be raised. Nor would even the cooperative itself 'fix' the price in any other sense than industry generally determines prices. It would simply enjoy the advantages which come from organized selling. This principle is the basis of the much discussed Surplus Control Bill—Would simply enable the quantity of their product available at any time in the market, or in any particular market. Only excess supplies—the surplus—would be dealt with by the Board.

There is no reason why these principles could not be made to apply to all farm products.

Now, if all farm producers were given the power of stabilizing the market at or near the cost of production, in the way we have pointed out, this greatest of all obstacles to successful cooperative marketing enterprises would be removed.

Maybe The Judge Will Be Wearing Bells On His Toes

The yacht Idler will leave Thursday morning on a voyage to the head of navigation of the Fox river. The boat will circle Lake Winnebago before traveling up the Fox, and later will travel to New London on the Wolf river. Following are to make the voyage:

Capt. F. Heinemann and Capt. C. A. Pardee, navigating officers; Albert Boltz, chief engineer; John Duval, steward; Harry Laabs and Ray Luedtke, quartermasters and Judge Fred V. Heinemann, skipper.

Like its ancestor of three or four centuries ago—the white-winged and long-eared falcon which scoured the seas in quest of treasure—the Idler goes forth on a mysterious cruise if the fancy of an old man may be credited.

"I'll tell you what I know—and what I think," the ancient quavered, "if you'll promise not to name me in your story." The promise was given.

This was the story he told: "Shortly after midnight early last February, I was walking near the foot of the Oneida-st hill when I met a man coming from the opposite direction. Just before he passed me something white fluttered to the ground. I called to him that he had dropped something and he stooped to pick it up. It was very bright but my cigar glowed brightly. I'm a powerful smoker—and that

LEGION COMMANDER'S CAR DAMAGED IN CRASH

D. J. Kenny, West Bend, state commander of the American legion narrowly escaped injury when his automobile and another driven by Frank McKone, Fond du Lac, collided near the Black Wolf curve on highway 41. William Lenz, Oshkosh, an occupant of the McKone car suffered severe bruises and cuts.

McKone drove out of a side road on to the main highway and crashed into the car. McKone was later arrested for driving a car while intoxicated and sentenced to four months in the Fond du Lac jail. While Kenny's car was parked on the side of the road after the accident another car crashed into it and caused further damage.

Mr. Kenny was returning to his home from a legion meeting in Appleton when the accident occurred.

APPLETON MAN QUALIFIES AS MOUNTAIN GOAT

K. M. Haugen of Appleton, Miss Elizabeth Boag of Green Bay and an unnamed Lawrence student climbed to the top of Long Peak in Estes Park, Colo., attaining an altitude of 14,255 feet on July 6, according to word received from park officials. The peak is the highest mountain in the Rocky Mountain National park. It is considered by professional climbers as the seventh hardest accessible mountain in the world to climb, the letter stated.

The summit was reached by an eight mile climb from Long's peak Inn, the home of Enos Mills, famous nature student and writer who died there a few years ago. Mr. Mills was the first to make this climb. Those who reach this summit and whose climb is certified in the register at its top automatically become members of the Colorado Rocky Mountain club.

STOCK MARKET SHOWS SLIGHT PRICE RISES

Several Large Blocks of Shares Are Sold at Year's Highest Prices

New York (GP)—Fractional improvement in prices marked the opening of the stock market Wednesday. Several large blocks of shares were changing hands. A block of 4,300 U. S. Steel was bought 1/2 point above Tuesday's close and one of 3,000 Allied Chemical was sold at the highest price of the year. Radio corporation and Peo- and Eastern opened at new peaks for the year.

Continued strength in high grade industrial stocks, a steady flow of reinvestment money, while the fact that easing money rates arrived this month earlier than in July of last year contributed to the confidence of operators for the rise. United States Steel extended its gain to over a point and commercial solvents E. and National Distillers P. outputs advanced 2 points or so. Foreign exchange opened easy, demand sterling ruling unchanged around $4.85 and French francs above 5.31 cents.

The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 1,700,000 shares.

50 LOCAL BOYS SIGN UP TO PICK CHERRIES

Annual Harvest This Year Delayed by Continued Rains Last Spring

Fifty Appleton boys have made application to go to Camp Chac, the cherry pickers' camp at Sturgeon Bay this summer, according to Leonard Henriksen who has charge of the project this year. Many more Appleton boys are expected to register before the cherry picking season opens. The season is much later than in former years because of the heavy rains in the spring. Reports are that the crop will be about as heavy as previous years.

The cherry pickers' camp this season is operated again by the Cherry Harvesters association which has conducted the work for the past two years. Henriksen, former boys' work assistant at the Y. M. C. A. and a graduate of Lawrence is to receive charge of registration and will have charge of the camp.

Pickers this year will be paid 3 cents a quart for cherries picked on the stem and 2 1/2 cents for cherries picked without stems. Board will be charged at the rate of 15 cents a day for boys who stay the entire period and 5 cents a day for those who stay part of the time.

Mr. Henriksen will be aided in his work by a number of Appleton men and former Lawrence students. Elsie Packard a Lawrence graduate and business manager of the camp and will be assisted by Alden Behnke of Appleton, Warren Wright, for the past three years a teacher at Appleton high school will be orchard boss while Harold "Pete" Briesco, Appleton and Lawrence athlete, star and John "Jake" Zussman will be athletic directors. Other men helping in the management of the camp are James Draper, Milan, Mich., Fred Hadden, and William Atkins, Duluth, and Harry Bryan, Portage.

Mrs. Ella "Ma" Deacon will again have charge of the kitchen and will be aided by four assistants. That in itself should be an added incentive for all boys who care to go to camp according to Mr. Henriksen for "Ma" Deacon's "cats" are remembered as one of the many bright things about the camp. Boys who wish to register for the camp should file their applications immediately and may send them to Leonard Henriksen, 618 E. College-ave., Appleton.

Graham Brothers Report Highest Sales Record For Year in June

Huge Total of 29,667 Trucks Shipped in First Six Months of 1927

June sales shipments of Graham Brothers trucks and commercial cars to Dodge Brothers Dealers who sell and service them throughout the world broke all previous monthly records for the year, the Company announces. The total of 5,730 Graham Brothers units produced and shipped during the 24 working days of the month exceeded the record month of May and brought Graham Brothers sales for the first six months of the year to the huge total of 29,667 trucks and commercial cars.

The June record is all the more noteworthy when it is known that in previous years truck sales in general have shown a falling off in June over earlier months of the year. Graham Brothers 1927 sales curve, however, has shown an upward trend since January 1st and Dealers report that prospects are bright for even higher sales during the second of the year.

The present great demand for trucks follows a series of remarkable improvements in design and appearance which add to the qualities of dependability, strength and long life for which Graham Brothers trucks have always been noted—even greater economy, more power, speed and striking beauty. Despite these advances, prices have remained at the same low level for 2 1/2, 3 1/2 and 4-ton capacity models.

Fish Bite Any Old Time In Cold Water Of Sawyer-Co

BY B. A. CLAFLIN

One of the peculiarities of the extensive fishing region of Sawyer county is that, up there, they pay no attention to the old notion that muskies and other game fish will not bite during dog-days. They get just as many during the hot months of July and August as at any other time of the year, and that means plenty. However, it is far more pleasant to seek this sport, say from about August 20 on, for from that date, the winged pests of the woods are off for the season. And the tang of the Fall air adds greater zest to the sport.

Let us assume that we are on a trip commencing September 1. While the drive to Sawyer-co requires only about eight hours, from the Fox River valley, you must remember that Hayward is only a couple of hours drive from Duluth. That means that you are fairly well north, and frosty nights come sooner than down here. Therefore, take along some heavy clothing and your comfort will be greater.

We are after the fighting musky and big, cumbersome wall-eyes. One of the best localities for these fine fish is what is called Moose Lake. This, really, is formed by the backwater of the west fork of the Chippewa River. It is peculiarly formed, however. Instead of being a widening of the river it is more of an extension, for the river passes along the northern end of the lake.

Along the shores of Moose Lake sunken logs and stumps form ideal lurking places for these tigers. You row or float along a slight way out from shore and cast your plug in around the stumps or rocks. When you get a strike make for the deep water without delay, for you will need plenty of it if you hope to land your fish, and more are lost than are landed in musky fishing.

When you tire of lake fishing you can proceed up river for about a mile, casting along the weed beds as you go. Finally you reach the rapids and

CHILDREN AND MATCHES START FIRE IN GARAGE

Children playing with matches were responsible for a fire in the garage of Edward Hesse, 1330 W. Washington-st., at about 3:40 Tuesday afternoon, according to a report of the fire department. One end of the garage was damaged to the extent of about $50 by the fire which was extinguished by firemen, who used chemicals.

In this swift water you are due for some royal sport.

This is a wild country and the timber is heavy. The presence of the many tamaracks along the river's edge impart a brownish tint to the water which is peculiarly pleasing to look at, and in direct contrast to the black, murky waters of Moose Lake.

This is one of the comparatively few regions that measures up to ideals for those seeking real, virgin forests and a plenitude of fish and game that go with it. To get to Sawyer-co. take highway 13 or any other that you prefer so long as you go north until you strike 70. Thence you drive west to Draper. At that point you can branch off on county line B to Hayward. The roads are most excellent and the scenery is fine.
